

King's Message To Parliament
Britain Offers Peace Proposals
New Premier For The Greeks
Eden Asks For Greater Freedom

King George's message to the opening of Parliament, thus summarized the mandate of his people to the newly re-elected Government: "The fulfilment of our international obligations under the League of Nations Covenant, no less than the adequate safeguarding of the Empire, makes it urgently necessary that deficiencies in the defense forces be made good." The King was not present in person for the reading of his address, for the Court was in mourning following the passing of Princess Victoria, sister of the King. The royal message made these major additions to the already well-known election pledges of the Cabinet: Measures for additional safety in the coal mines and for better maternity services will be introduced in Parliament.

There was a tense scene in the British House of Commons last week as Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, pledged the people he represents to play their part in further League sanctions against Italy. At the same time, however, he launched a new appeal to Mussolini. Meanwhile there was another worry for the Foreign Office. Japan was opposing the Naval Conference's plan to slash world navies, and evidently giving up the idea for another imperialistic venture into China. The European scene, Sir Samuel Hoare however, continues to dominate British interest. Today, Thursday, marks another critical juncture, when the nations consider the oil embargo suggestion. Hoare's peace plan, at first agreed upon to a certain extent by Laval, secretary of the League of Nations, is now being likely to undergo many modifications. Apparently Britain favors a settlement which would take the form of an exchange of territory between Italy and Abyssinia, giving Italy large tracts of territory around Adowa and giving Abyssinia a corridor to the Red Sea by way of compensation. At the same time the League of Nations would be called in to develop Ethiopia economically, giving Italy a major share of this work. The advantages of the British plan would be that any threat of Italian infringement would be avoided.

Former Premier Condylis, of Greece, has received a heavy blow. To the forefront in the drive to restore King George II to the throne, he has been passed by. Constantine B. Demerdjis, a law professor, and a member of the royal family, has instead announced his acceptance of the premiership under the king, and has formed a new cabinet. The fate of Condylis, it is generally accepted, is the result of his split with the king over the question for amnesty for the many imprisoned Republicans and Liberals. It was expected, when Demerdjis assumed control, that he would soon sign measures granting a wider tolerance, and amnesty for former enemies of the monarchy. Dissolving the National Assembly and ordering new elections were other features predicted in this recently troubled nation.

Greater freedom for the Danzig press and a reconstruction of the general laws of the city in line with the constitution were recommended by Anthony Eden, British Minister for League Affairs, to the League of Nations Council, in his capacity as rapporteur in the matter of petitions claiming Danzig's sovereignty. The Council approved Mr. Eden's report. Following petitions from Socialist and Roman Catholic sections an international committee of jurists was appointed in May to consider the rights and wrongs of the case. The petitioners claimed that the constitution, which declares that "all nationals of the Free City shall be equal before the law," has been violated in favor of National Socialists.

Italian war planes struck at Emperor Haile Selassie's headquarters, Friday, bombing and machine-gunning troops, civilians, the emperor's palace, and hospitals indiscriminately. The emperor himself fought against the attack which lasted 17 minutes, while more than 1,000 bombs were dropped and at least 12 persons were killed and 200 wounded. Later the emperor fled to the League of Nations over the incident. The Italian bombardment was talking to General Birru and a doctor named Zerova when the thunder of the bombing planes was heard. He calmly ordered his troops to scatter and began firing a nearby machine-gun himself. His courage inspired others. Soon anti-aircraft guns, machine guns and rifles were blazing all through Dessale at the roaring squadron of death overhead. Several Europeans, including a Red Cross nurse, a Belgian officer, and a French war correspondent, were wounded. The royal palace was struck by about 100 bombs.

Coldstream Local of B.C.F.G.A. Shows Dissatisfaction Regarding Relations Between Growers and Fruit Board

Resolution Adopted Favoring Reorganization of Growers' Association — Reduction in Levy Sought

DISSATISFACTION was the key note at the meeting of the Coldstream and Lavington branch of the B.C.F.G.A., held in the Coldstream school on Tuesday afternoon. There was a very small attendance. Chairman C. M. Watson and Secretary W. A. Middleton had a full agenda but it was not a happy meeting and if it in any measure reflects the attitude of the growers in the Okanagan Valley, this will be a good season for the regular winter stove league. C. M. Watson was the choice of the meeting for the position of Director for District No. 2, the North Okanagan. Chief dissatisfaction was over the relationship of the B.C.F.G.A. and the Tree Fruit Board. Viewed from the Coldstream angle it is not a happy marriage which leaves the Tree Fruit Board free as air while the delegates know nothing, hear nothing, and can do nothing.

LUMBER COMPANY HEAD POINTS TO BETTER PRICES

M. J. Bell, of Minneapolis, Declares Poles and Ties Will Find Good Sales

There has been a definite improvement in the outlook for the sale of poles and ties, within the next three months, when old stocks are expected to be cleared out, a general price increase is anticipated, states M. J. Bell, of Minneapolis, head of the Bell Lumber and Pole Company. At present, however, prices are very low and irregular.

Mr. Bell arrived in Vernon on Wednesday and will spend until Saturday inspecting properties and operations in the Lumby and Sugar Lake areas, where his firm has large interests.

Markets for poles, especially, are improving, although they have not as yet approached anything like the pre-depression years, when for one season operations, his firm cleared the sum of over $250,000 through a local bank, the majority of which went for supplies, wages, and timber purchases, declares Mr. Bell.

The Bell Lumber Company is at present doing considerable work, mostly through contractors, in the Sugar Lake district and in the near future a gang of some 25 men will be employed. In March, when the heavy snows go, this number will be trebled and from 75 to 100 men will be employed until early summer, says Mr. Bell.

Several years ago the lumber company operated a small mill at Enderby, but the advent of hard times made its closing necessary. In the near future, states Mr. Bell, this mill will be moved to Sugar Lake and there converted into a tie plant.

The chief market for poles from this district, and from the company's other camps in the United States, is the utility corporations across the line, although the Bell Lumber Company sell to all points in the U.S. east of the Rocky Mountains, and also to Central and Eastern Canada.

CRICKETERS SPONSOR DANCE
 Under the auspices of the Canadian Legion Cricket Club a very successful and enjoyable whist drive and dance was held in the Legion Hall on Tuesday evening. A large number attended, the hall being packed. Whist was played during the first part of the evening, followed by refreshments and dancing.

SLIGHT ADDITION TO VOTERS' LIST
 There will be 25 more names on the civic voters' lists this year than last, states City Clerk J. G. Edwards, as the result of additions and changes made at the annual court of revision, which sat in the Council Chambers on Tuesday. The court of revision, comprised of Mayor E. W. Frowse and Aldermen O. J. Hurt and H. Bowman, together with Mr. Edwards, spent a busy morning dealing with the changes.

DOMINION FRUIT COMMISSIONER IS OKANAGAN VISITOR

Col. R. L. Wheeler Meets Shippers To Discuss Current Problems Here

Col. R. L. Wheeler, Dominion Fruit Commissioner, has during the past week been paying his first visit to the Okanagan since he was appointed to his important office, in January, 1935, succeeding the late G. E. McInnes. Heavy pressure of duties has recently held the Commissioner in the east, attending to the many details which come under his administration, but he is now receiving, at first hand, the viewpoint of the trade in this valley on current problems, while at the same time he is renewing acquaintances with many friends here, formed during the days when he was the popular and highly efficient transportation specialist for the Fruit Branch. During Commission (Continued on Page 4, Col. 6)

COSSITT'S FRIENDS RECOMMEND HIM AS NEW SENATOR

Vacancy In B.C. Could Well Be Filled By Interior Man, Supporters State

Friends of F. B. Cossitt, and they are legion, are asking that he be made a Senator. There is a vacancy in the Senate and someone is to be appointed, so why not Mr. Cossitt? If the qualifications are service to the constituency in which he lives, then few men have given greater evidence of that form of unselfishness, which is termed community spirit, than has Mr. Cossitt. He is in addition the ideal chairman of any gathering. At the time of the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Teetlock, Mr. Cossitt's name was mentioned but he withdrew in favor of Dr. J. H. King.

Mr. Cossitt has been in the Okanagan Valley for the past 26 years. He is a fruit grower and a business man. He has taken part in all movements for the betterment of the industry and on two occasions was a member of a delegation to Ottawa, once to secure the benefits of the anti-dumping legislation. His fitness for representing the Interior is apparent, and his work on behalf of the Liberal party, now in power, has been of life-long consistency (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

ELKS PREPARE TO GIVE CHEER

Once again as Christmas rolls round the local Elks Lodge Christmas cheer committee commences work and all persons knowing of needy families in this city and district are asked to hand in names to the Elks committee as soon as possible and in any event before December 18, as this is the last date names will be accepted. All cases have to be investigated by the Elks before the cheer is distributed. This year's committee is comprised of J. Dean, chairman, S. A. Shaw, and E. Matlock.

Fraser Brothers' Jerseys Draw Dominion-Wide Notice

Five Cows, Raised On Vernon Ranch, Now Hold Records Among Best In Canada

Three Jersey cows, bred and formerly owned by Fraser Brothers, of Swan Lake, and now the property of the Kamloops Indian Residential School, secured very high awards in the official tests for the months of July, August and September, according to recently released figures by the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club.

In addition Fraser Brothers' own animal, "Oxford Dorothy of Aveling," was second in the mature class for all Canada, yielding 11,050 pounds of milk and 651 pounds of butterfat in 365 days, while in the two-year-old class their "Loyal Oxford Dorothy Second" won second place with 8,255 pounds of milk in all Canada-wide contest. "St. Mavis Fern of Lovat," bred by Fraser Brothers, and later sold to the (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

Penticton May Not Pool Losses

Penticton, B.C., Dec. 11.—A. L. MacDougall, President of the Penticton Co-operative Growers, states that there is little likelihood of that organization following the lead of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange in pooling losses on frosted apples. The Penticton Co-op. is in a different position from that of the Kelowna Exchange, President MacDougall points out, in that his organization was able to handle all the fruit which was picked and yielded in the orchards, whereas the Kelowna plan was hampered from lack of space. On Saturday next the Penticton plant will hold its quarterly meeting, but the question of pooling does not appear on the agenda, it is said. It may be discussed from the floor, if growers wish.

An Okanagan Lake Beauty

S. V. T. "STAN" JEFFERY The Okanagan is justly noted for its fine sport fishing, and keen anglers, but it remained for an "outsider" to show them how to catch fish on an off-day. S. V. T. Jeffery, purchasing agent of the C.P.R. in Vancouver, introduced Okanagan fishermen to a patent lure which he found effective in the Lake of the Woods, near Kenora, Ont. Okanagan trout rose to it just like the Kenora bass though they scorned all other kinds of bait, so that an ardent Vernon fisherman, impressed with the discovery, presented Mr. Jeffery with the fine 8½-lb. trout which the C.P.R. official is proudly holding. Mr. Jeffery, however, deigns to disclose the name of the lure which threatens to revolutionize B.C. sport fishing.

Strong Impression in East That Dump Duties Will be Fully Enforced by Canada

W. E. Haskins Says General Opinion Is That Treaty Privilege Will Be Utilized

Building permits in Vernon for this year have already passed the $100,000 mark in total value. While this does not constitute a record for the city, it is the best showing in many years, and is but another of the many indications of improving conditions in Vernon and district. During November, according to Building Inspector East, the permits issued represented a building value of $5,225, bringing the total for the year at the end of that month up to $98,102. Since the start of this month other permits have been granted, bringing the total beyond the $100,000 figure.

There is a very strong impression in the east that the full extent of the 80 per cent. dump duty privileges, provided for under the new trade treaty with the United States, will be enforced by Canada. This is, in effect, the reassuring statement of W. E. Haskins, Chairman of the Tree Fruit Board, who returned to the Okanagan on Wednesday after having visited Toronto, to attend the recent producers' conference, and after meeting government leaders at Ottawa. "If we receive this protection," says Mr. Haskins, "we shall be about as well off as ever, and the industry should be quite satisfied."

With Mr. Barrat, the other representative of the Board who went east, Mr. Haskins interviewed the new Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. J. G. Gardiner. The latter gave the assurance that there would certainly be no alteration in the Marketing Act until after the Supreme Court has ruled on its validity. Even after that, the minister stated, no changes will be effected without an opportunity being given all interested to make adequate representations.

Mr. Barrat, after the other conferences, went to Montreal to confer with Cockfield, Brown, Ltd., the advertising firm that is making a survey on behalf of the Tree Fruit Board. Professor Rogers, of Toronto, is also aiding this work, with a view towards promoting a knowledge of the food value of apples.

Summerland In Hockey League

Vernon, Salmon Arm, and Lumby Will Be Other Squads Competing In Okanagan Hockey League During Coming Season — Robert Howard, of Salmon Arm, Chosen League President — Play Starts In January If Weather Permits

The Summerland Intermediate hockey team will be the newest addition to the Okanagan Hockey League this coming winter and will line up in the race with Vernon, Salmon Arm, and Lumby, it was decided at the annual meeting of the North Okanagan Hockey Association, held in the National Hotel on Sunday afternoon last. No delegates were present from the Armstrong Hockey Club and it is reported that the Celery City will not enter a team in Intermediate competition this season.

E. G. Sherwood, of Vernon, was the unanimous choice to draw up the schedule, which will be a home and home games affair. Just when the first games will commence depends on how soon ice can be formed in the various rinks, but it will be on into January before the race will begin. Robert Howard, of Salmon Arm, was elected President of the Association for the coming year, succeeding R. J. Chisholm, of Lumby, and other officers are: Vice-President, Albert Edwards, Vernon; Secretary, G. J. Shirley, Salmon Arm; executive: Noel Dawson, Salmon Arm; R. J. Chisholm, Lumby; A. S. Knowles, Summerland; and Cecil Johnston, Vernon. A referee from each club was appointed by the meeting as the officials for all league games. Those chosen are: Charles Turner, Salmon Arm; Bill Langstaff, Vernon; Bill Sigale, Lumby; and Dr. Roy Walker, Penticton, who will act for the Summerland club. Regular amateur rules will be used by all teams during the season, it was decided, but as last season, the free shot rule will not be in force. Activities of various valley junior hockey teams were not discussed, as it is felt that the Juniors should form their own organization.

RINK PROPOSAL AWAITING WORD FROM GOVERNMENT

Draft By-Law Has Been Forwarded To Victoria—No Action In Meantime

Not before next Monday at the earliest, in all probability, will there be any fresh move on the new ice rink project. On Monday of this week, C. W. Morrow, city solicitor, forwarded to Victoria a draft of the by-law which, it will be necessary for the City Council to pass, preceding the plebiscite, asking for the taxpayers' support of the suggestion that the city should guarantee the bonds for the rink. The by-law cannot be presented for readings by the City Council until there is the assurance of the government's permission, for at present the Municipal Act does not allow any municipality to guarantee bonds. If this governmental support can be secured, however, the by-law and then the plebiscite can be proceeded with. Working with the City Council and the rink committee, Mr. Morrow prepared a form of agreement, and then drafted the proposed by-law. This draft was then sent to the Hon. E. C. MacDonald, with the request that he take the matter up with the Hon. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipalities. What is desired is an assurance that the city's proposed action will be validated. A reply could hardly be expected before Monday next, Mr. Morrow told the City Council at its meeting on Monday evening last, and meanwhile all that can be done is to wait.

WORK STARTS ON SCOTTISH HALL

Preliminary work on the Scottish Daughters' League Hall, on the corner of Eighth and Schubert Streets, commenced on Wednesday morning, with Morris Brothers and Sanderson as contractors. The contract calls for the building to be completed by January 24, which is Burns' Night, and it is expected that the official opening will be held on that date. The building, which will measure 60 by 30 feet, will be constructed of hollow tile, with rubber roof, and partial basement, and in addition to the main hall, will have a kitchen and dressing room. Besides serving as the official quarters of the Scottish Daughters, the hall will be used for dances, public meetings and other functions.

STORES TO BE OPEN ON TWO EVENINGS BEFORE CHRISTMAS DAY

To provide for the last minute rush of Christmas shoppers, all stores and places of business in Vernon will remain open until 9:30 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, December 23 and 24, it is announced by the Business Men's Bureau of the Board of Trade. However, on Christmas and Boxing Days, December 25 and 26, all stores will remain closed, business being resumed on Friday morning as usual. On Wednesday, January 1, New Year's Day, all business houses will remain closed. Stores will close as usual this afternoon, and on Thursday afternoon, December 19.

To Be Fully Prepared
Mr. Watson said that tariff and treaty matters would undoubtedly make it desirable that the association be represented at Ottawa in the near future.

The time of the holding of the annual convention was discussed. President A. K. Loyd is in England and the association directors would like to wait his return before holding a meeting, but on the other hand the association should hold its annual meeting previous to the meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Council. It was agreed that splendid care would be given to the export of the apples especially at New Westminster.

Capacity crowds attended the second annual Vernon and District Trout and Hounds month picture in the Empire theatre on Thursday night of last week. Miss Peggy McMillan, of the Vernon, was the lucky winner of the $100 prize, given away during the evening. It was presented by W. T. Cameron, of the B-X, one of the prominent merchants.

CREAMERY ISSUE TO BE DECIDED HERE ON MONDAY

Association Members Will Vote On Proposal To Purchase Ownership Interest

Next Monday, December 16, is the date set for the Okanagan Co-operative Creamery Association's general meeting, when the Association members will have an opportunity of recording their favor or disapproval of the scheme proposed by the directors, which suggests the purchasing of an interest in the creamery plant. These plants, now owned by Burns & Co. Ltd., would, if the scheme were endorsed, in the future be owned by a holding company in which the association would have a substantial interest. The meeting will be in the Board of Trade room, and it is anticipated that there will be a good attendance of the association members.

Meanwhile happiness for 800 cream shippers and their families as well as more business for Vernon and North Okanagan retailers is assured by the cash payment of $20,000 to be made from the creamery office tomorrow, says R. J. Collett, president of the Co-operative Association.

Butterfat prices are 28c basis Special. This return is higher than any made since November 1931 when payments for Special grade were set at the same figure.

One shipper called at the creamery office to ascertain in advance just how much he and his family would have to spend. The accountant there is reported to have requested this shipper to make a guess as to the amount of his cream cheque. After a moment's consideration the cream shipper estimated he would have between $80 and $85. He was greatly pleased when advised that his cream cheque would total no less than $108.84.

The increased payments to farmers are the direct result of advances in the wholesale prices of butter throughout Canada. Export shipments of 6,000,000 pounds in October combined with extreme cold weather early in that month throughout most of Canada created a real shortage of dairy products.

The new trade agreement with the United States reduced the duty on cream almost a half. This is expected to further improve the producers' situation. The British market on the other hand reflects a rather sour condition for New Zealand and Australian producers. Quotations have declined from 125 shillings to 94 shillings C.I.F. London, England.

The creameries at both Vernon and Enbridge are expected to have a good Christmas business. Samples sent from each churning for grading have resulted in mostly 40 and 41 score butter.

This extremely fine flavor is combined with perfect workmanship on the part of buttermakers. According to both L. W. Fadden and E. Skelly, who are the association's master craftsmen, the cream this winter is, on the average, the finest they have ever had the satisfaction of churning.

LOCAL INDIANS

MAKE PROTEST ON WOOD REGULATION

Must Secure Permit Before Being Allowed To Cut—Appeal Made To Ottawa

About 100 members of the Indian band at the reserve at the head of Okanagan Lake gathered together Monday afternoon to protest against the government regulation which makes it obligatory for them to secure a permit from the Indian Agent before being allowed to cut wood.

E. M. Ladner, of Kamloops, was engaged by the Indians to present their case to the Indian department, while James Coleman, local Indian Agent, was also present.

After considerable discussion, a resolution was passed by those present asking that all band members be allowed to cut wood but not sell it until the matter is taken up with Ottawa. Every year it has been the custom for the council of the band to allot so much wood to be cut by the members. A royalty of 75c a cord is to be paid, which goes back to the band funds, but owing to the hard times, the council has dropped this levy and now all that the Indians have to do is apply for the permit.

This regulation has been recently enforced by the Indian department to curtail certain practices such as having white men buy wood cheap from the Indians at the reserve, Mr. Ladner states.

TO MODERNIZE THEATRE HERE

Cafe and Ballroom May Also Be Built On Lot Adjoining By Famous Players

The Famous Players Corporation, owner of the Empress Theatre, has under consideration at the present time a complete modernization of the front of the theatre and it is understood that the corporation is planning to build a cafe and a ballroom on the next property, adjoining the theatre premises.

In R. Morrison, a prominent Kamloops architect, has been engaged to prepare plans for these projects and he was in Vernon last Thursday, measuring up the present buildings and the vacant lot, before proceeding with preparation of blue-prints.

It is expected that Mr. Morrison will return here shortly with the completed plans to obtain estimates of the cost of the work from local contractors.

CHRISTMAS TREES TO BE "PLANTED" ON BARNARD AVE.

Tomorrow, Friday, will see the annual Christmas tree installed at the intersection of Barnard Avenue and Seventh Street, and both it and the other tree at the City Hall corner will be gaily decorated as usual with colored lights.

Many local merchants and business firms have already decorated their store windows in a most attractive and seasonal manner, bringing reminders that Christmas is only two weeks away.

An additional decoration on Barnard Avenue this year will be a row of small trees, planted in the flag pole holes. Mayor E. W. Frowse reminds people that these decorations are for the pleasure of citizens and must not be molested in any manner.

EASTERN STAR CHAPTER HERE NAMES OFFICERS

Several of the officers of the Eastern Star, No. 46, Order of the Eastern Star, were elected at a well attended meeting held in the Oddfellows' Hall on Tuesday night.

Other officials will be appointed and installed at the beginning of the New Year.

Those elected were: Mrs. W. McEwen, Worthy Matron; Mrs. T. Collette, Treasurer; Mrs. G. Kelly, Secretary; Mrs. Cecil Johnston, Conductress; Miss Bessie Seaton, Associate Conductress; Miss Ida Adams, Associate Matron; A. C. Carter, Worthy Patron; and Frank Boyne, Associate Patron.

and loyalty. He was an unsuccessful candidate against Groote Stirling in the Dominion elections of 1928, has been a President of the North Okanagan Liberal Association for 20 years, and is a Past President of the Yale Liberal Association.

His interests have been, however, by no means purely political. As has been indicated, his activity in the fruit industry has also been of value. He was 1st Vice-President of the O.U.G. for two years, and was for ten years on the Board of the Vernon Fruit Union serving two terms as President. In 1925 he was the Dominion's fruit representative at the World's Fair.

At present the B.C. Senators are all Coast residents. They are Senators Barnard, Green, and King, who live at Victoria; McRae, at Vancouver; and Taylor, at New Westminster. That the Interior should now be represented seems a most reasonable argument.

FRASER JERSEYS ATTRACT NOTICE

School, led the Dominion in the four-year-old class with 767 pounds of butterfat, 14,599 pounds of milk and for this fine performance won gold and silver medals. This Jersey is a daughter of the famous "Duke of Volunteer," also raised by these Vernon ranchers, and she is a half sister of "Lovat the Coo's Fern," now owned by Fraser Brothers. Both these animals were from the same dam but with different sires.

The second Jersey cow to figure in the Cattle Club awards and now owned by the School is "Volunteer's Yuletide," who placed eighth in the 305-day four-year-old class. This cow was purchased from Fraser Brothers.

"St. Mawes Marigold Fern" is the third Jersey sold by Fraser Brothers to the Residential School to place, winning fourth in the mature class in 305 days.

L. C. Brydon, of Armstrong, tops the list in the three-year-old class, 305 days, winning a silver medal on 10,274 pounds of milk and 538 pounds of fat.

season," remarked Mr. Hoskins, "it will be imperative for us to do something in the nature of what has been carried on by the orange producers. We must have a widespread advertising campaign."

To Go Slow

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 12.—Plans to go slow under the Marketing Act until the Supreme Court decides whether it is constitutional, were announced by the Premier's conference by Minister of Agriculture Gardiner. This and the general agreement that there was no serious overlapping between Dominion and Provincial departments of agriculture, furnished resolutions for the main conference tomorrow.

missioner McIntosh's long illness, moreover, Col. Wheeler capably carried on the duties involved.

The new Commissioner passed through the valley on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, and then continued on to the coast. He returned to Vernon on Wednesday of this week, and held a conference with members of the Okanagan Federated Shippers' Association here. Today, Thursday, will find him on his way back east again.

At the meeting on Wednesday Col. Wheeler discussed many aspects of the administration of the Fruit Act with the local shippers. Afterwards he told The Vernon News that on many of the controversial points there will be no immediate decision.

The matters will be all given thorough discussion at the jobbers' convention at Toronto, to be held in the middle of next January, and then the decisions will be arrived at.

Col. Wheeler agreed that the annual meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Council, which will probably be held in March, may be one of the most important gatherings in the history of the fruit industry. It will come close to the time when the Marketing Act's administration will be announced by the Supreme Court, it is expected, and that is why the annual meeting is being delayed to a later date than usual.

The broad principle involved in the Supreme Court's study of the Bennett government's "social legislation" will, in Commissioner Wheeler's opinion, be regarding the clash of provincial and Dominion rights. Property and civil rights, which are under provincial jurisdiction, and trade and commerce, a Dominion matter, might be construed as interfering with each other, in the operations of such legislation as the Marketing Act.

For those who wish to see the Act retained, however, there is a considerable weight of legal opinion that is reassuring, Col. Wheeler intimated. On various other issues, involving the provincial and Dominion fields, it has been the practice to enforce the feature involving the wider application. That is, a provincial statute has been enforced only in so far as it has not been repugnant to a Dominion measure.

A. Malcolm, of Oyama, was a Vernon visitor on Saturday last.

Mrs. Douglas Gillespie, of Lavington, left on Friday last for Hood River, Oregon, to visit relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Calvert, of Armstrong, were Vernon visitors on Monday afternoon and evening.

After several months spent visiting at different points in the Old Country, Miss Susan Gibson returned to her home in this city on Friday last.

E. M. Lader, Kamloops, barrister and solicitor, was a business visitor here this week. He is well known here, particularly in tennis and badminton circles.

H. B. and J. S. Monk, of this city, are at present holidaying at Vancouver and Victoria. They left Vernon last week and are expected back this week end.

Mrs. S. Loly, of Vernon, is at present in Kamloops visiting her husband, who has been ill in the Royal Inland Hospital for the past two months. Mr. Loly is progressing slowly after an operation.

J. S. Galbraith left Vernon on Saturday night for Vancouver. While at the Coast Mr. Galbraith will visit the winter fair in addition to looking after private business. He expects to return about the end of this week.

The two local men's basketball teams, the Senior B and the Intermediate A aggregations, will travel to Kamloops on Saturday night next for games with the main line Seniors and Intermediates.

Stanley French, of Penticton, and formerly of Vernon, was a visitor here for several days last week, renewing friends and acquaintances. Mr. French, who is on the provincial department of agriculture staff, was formerly stationed in Courtenay and at Prince George.

Briton MacDonald, of Vernon, who has spent the past three months at the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farenhurst, of this city, has left for Vancouver, where he will spend a holiday. From the Coast city Mr. MacDonald will proceed to California, where he will attend university.

George T. Jackson, of the Civil Service Commission, Ottawa, was a visitor last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Galbraith, of this city. He is their son-in-law. Mr. Jackson is on a tour of the west on departmental business and before leaving Vernon for the Coast on Thursday last, he visited other valley centres.

Wilfred Hanbury, of Vancouver, owner of the Ponderosa Pine Lumber Company, Monte Lake, was a Vernon visitor on Thursday of last week. Mr. Hanbury, who is a former member of parliament for Vancouver-Burrard, has been spending some time at Monte Lake, alternating between there and Vancouver.

T. Everard Clarke, manager of the Vernon and Enderby plants of the Okanagan Valley Co-operative Creameries, is the owner of a Jersey heifer in Alberta that is the highest producer in Canada in the two-year-old 365-day class on Dominion record of performance. She produced 599 pounds of butterfat and was 88 pounds ahead of any other animal of equal age in Canada.

Friends in this city of Miss Marjorie McKay, formerly of the Vernon High School teaching staff, and now of the Enderby High School, will be sorry to learn of her recent illness, which necessitated her removal to the Royal Inland Hospital, Kamloops. Her place is being taken by E. A. Lynch, of Armstrong, also a former teacher at the local High School.

What seemed to several people to be a very careless accident occurred on Barnard Avenue on Wednesday about 5:30 o'clock, when a passing truck ran over a dog. Either the truck driver did not know that he had hit the animal, or did not know as he immediately drove on without stopping to investigate. The dog was badly hurt and had to be destroyed.

A strong team of men and women players from the 1st B.C. Dragoons Badminton Club will journey to Kelowna tonight, Thursday, for a series of exhibition matches with the Orchard City's best players. This is the first match of the season between these two clubs. Other matches are slated for the near future with valley clubs.

Up to the present time, only about one ounce and eleven pennyweight of placer gold has been turned in to his department, states E. M. McGusty, Gold Commissioner. With the advent of cold weather this seasonal work is being closed down in this district, but will be resumed in the spring, when it is expected that quantities of the metal will be sold. No more than two ounces or less than two pennyweight will be purchased by the Gold Commissioner at one time from single parties.

Regular classes commenced on Monday last in the new school room built on the High School grounds, Mason Street, to accommodate the overflow pupils from the main building, who have since September been housed in the basement of the United Church. Both Elementary and High School students will commence their regular Christmas holidays on Saturday, December 21, and will resume their studies on Monday, January 6.

The sum of over $500 was realized by the annual Christmas bazaar, held in the Scout Hall on Saturday afternoon of last week under the auspices of the All Saints' Parochial Guild. Gaily decorated booths of fancy and plain work, home cooking, books, baby clothes, as well as a Christmas tree and guessing contests were provided for the large crowd attending. The affair was under the direction of Mrs. F. E. Wood, head of the Guild.

Jack Lynes, of Armstrong, was a visitor to this city last week.

D. L. Macdonell, of Vernon, was a visitor to Kamloops over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Campbell were Oyama visitors in Vernon on Saturday evening last.

After a month spent at Halcyon Hot Springs, C. B. L. Lefroy returned to his home in this city on Wednesday evening.

Jack Roland, of Revelstoke, is at present in Vernon relieving at the C.P.R. ticket office, during the absence on vacation of C. A. Olsen.

T. Duthie, of Portland, a business connection of the Associated Growers, is in Vernon this week, conferring with local fruit men.

KELOWNA BIRTHS SAME AS 1934

KELOWNA, B.C., Dec. 11.—Exactly the same number of babies were born at the Kelowna General Hospital during the first eleven months of this year as from January 1, 1934 to November 30, 1934, the totals being 160. However, in December of last year there were seventeen births, bringing the 1934 total up to 177. Four arrived on Boxing Day. The record total for any month at the hospital is 24 births.

BETTER LIGHTING FOR PENTICTON

PENTICTON, B.C., Dec. 11.—With addition of a new transformer to the municipal lighting system, Penticton main streets are now much better lit, as the globes have been brought to full brilliance.

From Ellis Street west all the street lights have been placed on this improved circuit, with new globes installed.

Plans for illuminating the business section for the Christmas season are now being carried out and it is expected that many strings of colored lights will be hung, and as well small trees will be placed near the lamp standards in the central blocks.

DOG KNOCKS WOMAN TO THE PAVEMENT

PENTICTON, B.C., Dec. 11.—Mrs. C. G. Bennett, of this city, met a rather unusual and painful accident while walking down Main Street on Saturday afternoon last, when a large police dog, in an effort to reach another animal, knocked her to the pavement.

Mrs. Bennett's head struck the concrete and she was immediately taken to the Penticton Hospital, where she is progressing as favorably as can be expected.

Selwyn Appointed Musical Director Of Orchestra Here

S. A. Selwyn was named musical director of the Vernon Symphony Orchestra for the coming year at the annual meeting of that organization, held in the Board of Trade room on Friday night of last week.

W. E. Laidman was re-elected business manager and secretary-treasurer, and the executive officers are Mrs. E. S. Craster, F. Dawe, A. J. Hobson, C. Prior, and F. J. Vinnicombe.

The Brathwaite Shield, won by the orchestra at the Okanagan Valley Musical Festival last Spring, will be hung in the City Hall, Mayor E. W. Frowse assured the meeting.

Mayor Frowse and others suggested that it would be a fine thing for the city if the orchestra could arrange a series of concerts to be held on Sunday afternoons throughout the winter. This and other questions regarding dates for concerts were left in the hands of the executive.

One of the chief difficulties facing the organization is the location of a place to practice in and it was decided to try to obtain the use of the Band Hall.

In order to secure funds to carry on, a canvass for associate members will be made in the near future.

GEOFFREY MONTFORT REVEALS HISTORY OF GRIM TYROL CASTLE

It was in 1910 that the Austrian government ordered that the ruins of a certain castle-like building in the Tyrol should be razed, and all traces of it destroyed.

What lay behind this strange governmental decree?

Readers of The Vernon News may gain some inkling of the history of this accursed Schloss in the mist-ridden and forsaken Brautau Pass if they read Geoffrey Montfort's excellent long story, "Junda Mauseh" which is scheduled to appear in two parts, in the Christmas and New Year's issues. Mr. Montfort has been a frequent contributor to The Vernon News in the past, and this, his latest offering, promises to win him an even wider following.

PLAN TO CONTINUE DRILLING FOR OIL

KELOWNA, B.C., Dec. 11.—The sum of $2,000 is to be raised by December 20 for the purpose of providing funds to carry on drilling operations at the Kelowna Oil Well No. 1. It was decided at an enthusiastic meeting of those interested in this project in the Board of Trade room on Thursday afternoon last. John E. Reekie, of this city, is chairman and all contributions will be made through him and held in trust until the required sum is reached.

OBITUARY

After only a week's illness in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital, Kenneth Dugate, aged 18, a resident of Oyama for the past year and a half, passed away at that institution late Wednesday afternoon.

He was born in Vernon, but had lived in Kelowna for about seven years, afterwards moving to Shuswap Falls and later to Oyama. A strong appeal was made by L. R. Clarke before the Rotary Club on Monday, when he asked that all the members become affiliated with the League of Nations Society of Canada. This, he said, would be a logical action on the part of Rotarians, as one of their objectives is the attainment of world peace. The suggestion will be considered by the club's international committee.

So far as is known at present, only one letter has reached the valley from the "China Clipper," the giant American seaplane, which recently made flying history by a trip across the Pacific and back. This one letter was received by a Kelowna man and was posted from Honolulu at 2 p.m. on Dec. 6, reached San Francisco at noon the following day and was in Kelowna by Monday, a four-day journey for some thousands of miles across water and land. Local Post Office officials state that they have not seen any of these letters, which are marked with a distinctive stamp.

MICHAEL HERERON, FAMED OLD-TIMER, DIES AT KELOWNA

Was Resident of District For 45 Years—Prominent In Many Activities

The Okanagan Valley and the Kelowna district in particular lost one of its best known and most public-spirited pioneers through the death on Sunday afternoon in the Kelowna General Hospital of Michael Hereron, a valley resident for the past 45 years.

Mr. Hereron was admitted to the hospital a week before his death for treatment for an internal malady from which he had suffered for some time. The body lay in state Monday night in the Church of the Immaculate Conception with a Guard of Honor furnished by members of the Father Penfold Council. Solemn Requiem mass was celebrated in the church on Tuesday morning by the Very Rev. Father W. B. McKenzie and the Rev. Father P. Jansen before a very large congregation, the building being filled to capacity. In compliance with a last wish of the deceased there were no flowers. Interment followed in the Roman Catholic cemetery at Okanagan Mission.

Besides his wife Mr. Hereron is survived by two daughters, Mrs. D. Tutt and Miss Frances Hereron, one son, W. R. Hereron, and six grandchildren, all residents in the Kelowna district.

Mr. Hereron, who was aged 65, was born in County Donegal, Ireland, and in the spring of 1890, as a lad of 18, left for Canada, spending two years at Montreal before moving west. He arrived in the Okanagan Valley in 1890, riding from Selkous on horseback, as the S. & O. railway had not then been completed.

Settled in Dry Valley

The young man first procured property in what is now North Glenora, then known, owing to the absence of irrigation, as Dry or Starvation Valley. Later Mr. Hereron worked on the large ranch of the late Alfred Postill, at Ellison, and following that on the property of the late John Conroy.

In 1898 he married Miss Anastasia O'Reilly, and a home in the Ellison district. For a number of years, while the late George Whelan was absent in England, Mr. Hereron was foreman of the Cloverdale Ranch. His wife died in 1903 and two years later he married Miss Mary Lee, who survives him.

About this period he acquired an interest in the Simpson Ranch, which he farmed for a number of years, until he moved to the Sunset Ranch, where Mr. Hereron has made his home since 1931.

Always a man of wide and varied interests, Mr. Hereron's public services to the valley and the Kelowna district, practically since his arrival nearly half a century ago, are almost too numerous to mention.

For seven years he was general road foreman for the provincial Department of Public Works, during which period the new section of the Kelowna-Vernon highway, along the shore of Woods Lake, was constructed at a record low figure per mile. Other roads built under the supervision of Mr. Hereron included the lakeshore road to Okanagan Mission, the Westside road, the Joe

PARENT-TEACHERS RAISE FUND FOR LAVINGTON SCHOOL

LAVINGTON, B.C., Dec. 9.—The whist drive and dance, held in the school on Friday evening last to raise more funds for the Christmas tree, was a decided success. Prizes for whist were: Ladies, Mrs. Geoffrey Richardson; gentlemen, Percy Jensen; consolation prize, Buster Schuster.

The balloon dance caused a lot of fun and was won by Doris Kozoris and Mat Adams.

Mrs. Roy Kirk kindly donated four cakes of shortbread to be raffled on December 20 at the Christmas tree celebration. The goose was won by Mrs. A. B. Colton. During the evening the leftover cakes were raffled and altogether the splendid sum of $51.35 was realized from the evening's entertainment.

At the last Parent-Teachers' meeting here, it was decided that the children only. There will be no dance for the grown-ups. "Santa" is expected to arrive in time to deliver presents from the tree and there will be the usual program for the pupils.

B.C.'S HEALTH INSURANCE SCHEME

REPORT of the Hearings Committee on Health Insurance is now before the Provincial Secretary. It is the sort of document that is to be looked for when a government named committee investigates a project dear to the heart of at least the majority of its sponsors.

The report states:

"It is the primary function of the Committee, as stated by the Minister in his letters of appointment, to obtain from interested individuals and organizations their criticisms and suggestions regarding the bill. Further the Committee was to analyze representations and to suggest amendments to the proposed bill which would make it economically and socially sound and acceptable to the majority of the electorate."

Eighteen centres were visited by members of the committee and representations were received from 139 organizations and individuals. Five of the thirteen of those the committee mentions were organizations composed of business men. Briefs were presented by 108 organizations, 16 of these being women's organizations which it is safe to assume gave straight approval of the measures proposed rather than critical examinations in the light of ability to pay or the workability of the proposals advanced. Briefs were presented by 31 individuals. The principle of health insurance was favored by 111 and it is remarkable that so many were heard from who are entirely regardless of the welfare of their fellows. It is to be noted that 21 who may have favored the principle, asked to be exempted; that 13 asked a Dominion measure or investigation; that 10 stated the time was not opportune; that 32 recommended that the scheme should cover all employees or every one in the province; and that 27 stated the contributions were too high or favored a more limited scheme. That only 10 stressed the importance of preventive medicine indicates the majority did not think this would come under the scope of the commission.

In any examination of the report of a commission or committee it is well to know something of the personnel. When the occupation of an individual is considered some measure of interest or character is revealed. There were six members of this Hearings Committee and they were, as expected, drawn from occupations which are important when measures of mercy, human progress, or health are the concern, but they do not rank very high when the task is to provide the finances without which, in our civilization, there is no surety of continuance.

These were: Percy M. Bengough, secretary, Trades and Labor Council; Grace Fairley, R.N., superintendent of nurses; A. Grant Fleming, M.D.; J. H. McDonald, president B.C. Manufacturers Co.; E. W. Neel, president of B.C. Hospitals' Association; Allan Peebles, Ph.D., advisor on health insurance, department of Provincial Secretary.

The single business-man on the Hearings Committee signed the report which contains this statement:

"On the basis of the representations made, it is the feeling of the Committee that there is a basic demand in the Province for the early introduction of health insurance. But your Committee is of the opinion that the full plan as outlined in 'A Plan of Health Insurance for British Columbia' is too comprehensive and costly for introduction at the present time and that the plan should be modified. J. H. McDonald is not in favor of legislation at the present time. He thinks it is imperative that business have a breathing-spell from overmuch social legislation that will be burdensome and tend to restrict employment."

It is now proposed that the Health Insurance scheme, if it is adopted by the legislature, as suggested by the committee, shall include all employees except agricultural laborers, earning less than $1,800 a year, also their dependents. It is proposed that they enjoy the services of physicians but not chiropractors or osteopaths, have free hospitalization, drugs and medicines and diagnostic laboratory aids. The sponsors of the bill estimate that 125,000 employees and their dependents will be affected.

The money is to be provided by a flat assessment on employers and employees earning up to $1,000 a year; those earning above this to be assessed at two per cent. of their incomes and employers contributing one per cent. on their payrolls.

It is suggested by the report that the Health Insurance Commission be composed of three and not more than five persons; that no cash benefits be paid; that benefits shall start one month after a person begins paying into the scheme; and that no provision be made for an appeal board.

It is not now proposed to wipe out all private plans, "which meet the provisions of the bill" but to recommend that where private sickness benefit schemes do not come under the Commission, the employers should contribute to the Commission the amounts they would have been assessed under the provincial plan, or where employers are paying less to a private plan than they would under the provincial scheme, they should pay the difference to the Commission.

A final paragraph in the report deals with the care of children, stating that:

"The Committee wants to go on record as being strongly in favor of adequate preventive and curative medical care for children. They consider this a sound not only on humanitarian grounds, but sound on business grounds. Adequate medical care for children will save heavy expenses in later years. They regret that health insurance, particularly if it is not applied to rural communities, will not provide for the treatment of all children in the province. Accordingly they recommend that provision be made through the Provincial Board of Health for the care of all children not eligible for health insurance benefits."

It is not yet generally recognized that employers will not contribute anything to the Health Insurance scheme. A charge of one per cent. on the payroll, is proposed for them, but they will not pay it. They will deduct it from the sums they otherwise would pay in wages. Employees have, so far, failed to recognize this, or if they have seen it they are content that it should be so. They might as well be levied upon for three per cent. as for the present scheme to go through as it is. If employees are willing to know they are going to be called on to defray the whole of the cost, there is no reason the plan should not be adopted. But the facts have not so far dawned upon them and when they do, it will alter another impost has been added and another organization set up which it will be extremely difficult to dislodge.

The test of the proposed Health Insurance plan is whether or not the people of British Columbia can pay for it. If this question is left to the electorate to decide, the verdict would be "Yes." If it is to be left to those charged with financing the province, or those owning provincial bonds, the answer would likely be "No."

Our ability to pay is an intangible thing until the strain becomes too great and then it is too late.

Surely it would be the part of wisdom to suggest that we wait to see what the Dominion Government will do. If it does nothing, then the decision might well be left to a body composed of those whose principal concern is

The Brook

I looked to the brook and saw a face.
Heigh-ho, but a child was I!
There were rushes and willows in that place
And they clutched at the brook as the brook ran by,
And the brook it ran its own sweet way
As a child doth run in heedless play,
And as it ran I heard it say:
"Hasten with me
To the roistering sea
That is gray with the peace of the evening sky!"

I look in the brook and see a face—
Heigh-ho, but the years go by!
The rushes are dead in the old time place,
And the willows I knew when a child was I.
And the brook it seemeth to me to say,
As ever it stealeth on its way:
Solemnly now and not in play:
"Oh, come with me
To the slumberous sea
That is gray with the peace of the evening sky!"

Heigh-ho, but the years go by—
I would to God that a child were I!

the health of the people and others who can measure with some accuracy our ability to pay and the effects on business and the wage earners of the impost to be added. For so long as the present system remains, ability to pay cannot be ignored no matter what our wishes are.

SOME PRACTICAL CHRISTIANITY

SHARING joy and even the sharing of sorrows is not an uncommon thing but this sharing of losses assented to by the members of the Kelowna Growers' Exchange and the Winfield Co-operative is a real departure. Of course there are special reasons. That the idea of compensation was first formally proposed by a gentleman whose fruit was all under cover, truly illustrates the spirit of practical Christianity which animates the men and the women members of the K.G.E., and all others who follow in their wake.

When the severe frost developed in the Okanagan Valley its baleful effects were felt worst of all in the sections where the late winter apples are grown most heavily, and where there are also large plantings of McIntosh apples.

The Macs were a heavy crop, the season was late, and the frost came unusually early. This combination of circumstances may not again occur in a life-time. All packing houses found difficulty in handling the crop. There was a degree of congestion such as has not occurred before throughout the length-of-the Okanagan Valley fruit raising area. Packers were almost frantic and packing houses were congested. In the interests of the deal it appeared to be imperative to clear out one variety before the admission of others. From Oyama, south, this was admitted to be the best procedure and many growers left their apples in the orchards, against their better judgment, as an accommodation to the packing houses.

At Kelowna it is known that the co-operative packing house, sufficiently large for all ordinary purposes, was absolutely inadequate to care for the huge quantity of apples suddenly ready. This was also true at some more southerly points.

Admission of some measure of responsibility was quickly followed by offers to share the loss and this offer has now been formally adopted.

In the Vernon area, the Vernon Fruit Union is not called upon to take action. There is not the load of late winter apples to market here, so that packing house congestion ends with the packing of the McIntosh variety. There was no need for apples to be left out and if growers chose to take the risk, they did so voluntarily, either because they preferred to do their hauling after picking was finished, or because they chose to wait for size or color, something which would be to their personal advantage.

At the time of writing nothing has been heard of any other movement for sharing losses. The reason of this is because probably there was not quite the same situation in other places. If there were, these others may prefer to go more slowly.

At Penticton, where there were heavy losses, there was quite a different situation and it is difficult to say from the outside just how the situation is regarded. The Penticton Co-operative Growers is one of the large co-operatives as its name and location indicates. There they not only pack co-operatively but contract the hauling. The night of the big first frost, strenuous efforts were made to gather in the crop. It is said that every truck in Penticton was engaged in hauling and that before 24 hours after the freeze, all the apples that were assembled at the points from which the co-operative hauling commenced, were under cover.

DANGEROUS LEVEL CROSSINGS

PROTECTION of level crossings is a matter which has not been given very great attention recently in Vernon. The reason is that efforts to have safety devices installed at dangerous points have met with constant frustration. One good thing has resulted and this is the construction of the new highway at Larkin to eliminate two level crossings. The more dangerous points, within the city of Vernon, remain as they were, a constant menace to travellers. The railway crossings at Barnard Avenue, Schubert street, and Seventh street, are particularly dangerous. There is a very dangerous level crossing near Kelowna which it is rumored is to be protected.

An accident at the second railway crossing on Ellis street, south of the C.N.R. Station in Kelowna, has resulted in calling attention to the situation there and the Railway Board's Inspector has written to the Council asking for better lighting.

From Chilliwack comes the news that the Yale Road-C.N.R. crossing, is to be protected. Plans have been approved and installation is reported in progress. The protection is to consist of double bells, wig-wags, and flashing lights. The cost is to be $3,495, of which amount the Dominion Railway Grade Crossing Fund is to pay 85 per cent. The cost of maintaining the signal, ways 15 per cent. The cost of maintaining the signal, estimated to be $200 annually, is to be shared equally between the C.N.R. and the municipal council.

Must we, residents of the Okanagan, wait until human lives are sacrificed before insisting on reasonable protection at level crossings which are notoriously and admittedly dangerous?

With good reason, The Vernon News complains of the lack of uniformity in the versions of "O Canada," sung throughout this fair Dominion. It suggests that the King Government select one version and give it the full weight of government sanction or whatever is necessary to ensure its being adopted.—Barrie Examiner.

The Mole And The Bear

In Germany, if what we hear is true, Jews and Christians alike may be persecuted with full government approval. We don't do that in Canada!

In Italy the people are trained to obey the voice of one master, even though that master be a madman. We are not like that in Canada!

In Turkey one man has imposed upon a seemingly backward and static country a terrifyingly modern way of living. We wouldn't stand that in Canada!

In Russia an inflamed class slashed right and left to clear the way for that class. We don't advance that way in Canada!

In Ireland religious intolerance is cultivated, factional spirit fostered. You won't find that in Canada!

In Mexico an unholy war stimulated by a reactionary church, bids fair to equal the elevated Christianity of the middle ages. We have absolute religious freedom in Canada!

England is a country of snobs that worship money and all it will buy; especially titles. We are not snobs in Canada!

"Perhaps?" must be the guarded comment of an informed sceptic on each patriotic statement. The question remains: Are we smug in Canada? The question arises: Are we blind in Canada?

Foolish Merchant

An East Kootenay merchant once went out of business, recalls the Cranbrook Courier. While in business he made no money for himself. He succeeded in keeping his competitors from making money. He landed in the district with a stock of goods, and announced he would undersell his competitors. If his competitors offered merchandise at a dollar, he announced his price would be ninety cents. When he went out of business he owed a large sum of money. He settled with his creditors on a basis of ten cents on the dollar.

His ideas in business was to cut the price. That is all that he knew about business. As a result he chalked up a miserable failure folding his tent, and quit. Not only did he lose money but he deprived his creditors of a profit, and the trade was demoralized. And his creditors footed the bill. It even caused other business houses to cut employees' wages because of no fault of their own.

No community can thrive unless people who do business make a profit. This applies to merchants, farmers, lumbermen, miners and the rank and file of labor. When some fellow thinks he can outsmart the rest of the crowd by eliminating profit he is nothing short of ridiculous. It costs money to operate a business, and anyone who thinks he can escape this cost is absurd.

Of course, prices can be cut. Buying volume is one means to this end. Then too, merchants should cut the price of items dragging on their shelves. But for a merchant to adopt the one means of getting trade—the persistent, constant, and relentless price-slashing method—is plain folly.

Remember the old ditty: "There never was a product made. This fact you must confess. But that some fool could cut the price. And sell his junk for less."

And he settles his bills on the basis of a dime on the dollar.

The War Racket

The sad part about this war racket is that it is only the munition makers and great money lenders who gain by all this costly show of force. As an instance, it is recalled that in its investigation last spring, the royal commission, appointed to enquire into the armaments industry in Great Britain, disclosed that in its demand for an increased British air force owned 4,000 shares in one of the largest plants for building airplanes in that country. The recent boom in aircraft shares has given them a handsome profit and has well rewarded them for their apparent patriotism. Then again there are men who do not relish actual warfare, but how they love the preliminaries! How they love to strut and swagger! How they love the excitement of flags and bands, the dignity of uniforms, and the titles, lieutenant, captain, etc. Wonderful on parade, but probably not so hot when it would come to actual trench work.—"F. J. S." in the Cranbrook Courier.

Valley People by Frances Marlonn

Reviewed by Margaret Lawrence

THIS is a series of portraits drawn from life. The author returned to her home town after she had become a writer and found a lot of copy among the natives who had stayed at home. Some of them were in the asylum, two of them had committed murders; several of them had married the wrong persons; one had turned down very happily.

The author apologizes in the end for the folk to the valley by her gallery of portraits because being a writer she was naturally attracted to frustrated folk. Happy people have no dramatic stories behind them, so she says.

It is a grim collection. It is not to be recommended to anyone who feels blue about human nature either in the mass after reading the newspapers, or in particular after having a bout with gossip.

Technically it is excellent work. The portraits are very ably photographed. The people are real. Their faults stand out starkly and their occasional little wanderings into human goodness also stand out starkly. The collection is done in the modern way. It is rapid machine taken fiction, loosely held together by its grouping, and motivated by curiosity rather than by creative effort. The author is interested in seeing how the wheels go round in her people, and the stories are narrated more after the style of the village gossip than by the recording writer. Most of the stories are told by an observer, though some of them are told by the person involved.

It is character humor of a broad kind, ably done after its kind, and within its scope. There is one story in it that is outrageously funny, a family of Bohemians entering the valley, and shocking the natives by their free and easy existence. The five children are allowed to run around in a state of nature. The parents play games with the place of disciplining them. The proper folk of the place pay calls in order to remonstrate, and make dire prophecies about how the children will turn out. But they are fooled. The children turn out exceptionally well, and bring credit to the valley, and the parents go on enjoying the joke they have played upon all concerned.

The book as a whole is a fictional complaint at the narrowing influence of a community. Lying in the midst of beauty, the people allow themselves to become mentally and spiritually cramped; the community spirit weighs heavily upon most of them, and kills all the initiative and the capacity for the enjoyment of life. But a few survive and against environment.

Murray New Wheat Board Head
King Recalls Geneva Delegate
Ontario Power Dispute Continues
Jobless Flocking To Alberta
Hepburn Determined To Retire

THE CANADIAN WHEAT BOARD has been reorganized with James R. Murray, of Winnipeg, as chairman, and Dean A. M. Shaw, of Saskatoon, as a member. It was announced last week by Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce.

At the same time the minister announced the new board will initiate a policy of "selling wheat" to have our surplus stored to a normal basis. But, he added, "there will be no fire sale of wheat. It will be for sale at competitive values and will not be held at exorbitant premiums over other wheats." The advisory wheat board of seven farmers, millers and grain men, established by the Bennett government, has been abolished, Mr. Euler announced. The cabinet wheat committee consisting of Mr. Euler, Hon. James Gardiner, Hon. Thomas Crerar and Hon. C. A. Dunning, will continue in an advisory capacity. The new chairman will receive $18,000 a year, the same as his predecessor. The vice-chairman will be paid $15,000, and Dean Shaw, $15,000. The former vice-chairman received $17,000 and Mr. Grant $15,000.

With Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King presiding, representatives of nine provinces gathered in Ottawa this week for the inter-provincial conference with the Dominion government. The first issue to arise was relief, and all representatives, combining eight Liberal and one Social Credit governments, made the strongest representations to the Dominion to take over the full cost of unemployment relief. It is expected that this question will be the overshadowing one, as to refuse the provinces' demands the King government will incur the hostility of provincial Liberalism everywhere. The Quebec and Ontario governments have promised that if the Dominion takes over half the relief cost they will assume the rest. This would relieve the municipalities entirely from their present heavy charges. The Western provinces are not in a position to offer this, as they cannot make any heavier payments. One of the chief points in the B.C. delegation's stand is a national program of public works, and Premier Pattullo was outspoken in favoring such a scheme.

Dr. W. A. Riddell, around whose head a storm has been raging because he took the initiative, on his own responsibility, of suggesting sanctions including oil, will not be at Geneva when the League of Nations gets down to the consideration of the committee's recommendation as to just exactly what sanctions are to be applied against Italy. Dr. Riddell, some time ago, was appointed Canadian delegate to the Pan-American labor conference in Chile, under the auspices of the international labor office, and he will attend. It is thought probable that Hon. Senator Raoul Dandurand, cabinet minister without portfolio, who is in Europe, or Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian high commissioner at London, may go to Geneva for the important League gathering next week.

The Ontario Government this week proclaimed its Power Act, cancelling power purchase contracts with four Quebec companies, after a conference with representatives of the companies failed to reach an agreement. Further negotiations, it was announced, would be delayed until after the Dominion-Provincial Conference this month. While the Federal Government has power to disallow Ontario's legislation, invalidating power purchase contracts with Quebec companies, Premier Hepburn said he had no fear the King government would interfere. At the same time, however, he declared any interference would result in his dissolving the Legislature and facing a provincial general election on the power issue.

The lure of $25 a month has made Alberta cities the mecca of many end-of-the-year trekkers who used to make their winter base on the Pacific Coast. It was indicated by a survey at the Alberta Relief Commission office, Calgary reported single jobless men arriving on freight trains from both the East and West. Most of the 2,000 single men were reported awaiting camp assignments in Calgary and Edmonton. Representations have been made by the Province to the Dominion for increased strength of Federal camps in order to absorb larger numbers of unemployed.

Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn, of Ontario, home from a health trip to the south, determined to carry out his plan of retiring from politics after the 1936 session of the Ontario legislature. He spent the last month in Florida and will return there after the Dominion-Provincial conference. He asserted he would lead the government during the legislative session, expected to open about Jan. 20 and, after that, his future was "very uncertain." In Liberal quarters it was hoped the premier could be persuaded to retain his Elgin seat in the Legislature after retiring as premier. Mr. Hepburn, however, did not offer to comment on this possibility.

Employment in Canada has reached the highest level since December, 1930, but relief costs have not moved correspondingly downward and there are still more than 1,000,000 Canadians in receipt of direct unemployment relief. Extensive public works have contributed to the favorable employment trend in recent months, while these in turn have stimulated activity in private business. From the 1935 peak of 1,230,000 persons on direct relief last February, the number decreased to 1,100,000, estimated in the late autumn reports received from relief departments and social agencies in the nine provinces. This compares with 1,150,000 estimated at this time last year, a drop of approximately 50,000.

LUTHERAN PASTOR PREACHES FIRST SERMONS HERE

Co-operation of Minister And Congregation Stressed By
Rev. Carl C. Janzow

St. John's Lutheran congregation last Sunday listened to the first sermon of the recently installed pastor, the Rev. Carl C. Janzow.

The German sermon in the morning on the basis of Luke 21:25, stressed the importance of the fact that this gospel-ministry is pledged on the Holy Scriptures, the infallible Word of God.

Congregation and pastor by God's grace, he said, intend to build Christ's kingdom, not on the sinking sand of human reason, wisdom, and speculation, but on God's Word, which endures in eternally even though heaven and earth pass away in the fire of judgment day.

The English sermon in the evening discussed the subject: "The glory of a faithful Lutheran congregation." In his message which was based on I Cor. 3, beginning with verse 11, the pastor said in part:

The first glory of the church is its foundation. God Himself has laid it. It is Christ Jesus, true God, begotten of the Father from eternity and also true man born of the Virgin Mary; who is our Lord, having redeemed us from death and the power of the devil, not with gold or silver, but with His holy precious blood and with His innocent suffering and death, that we might be His own. Other foundation can no man lay.

The second glory of the church is its precious structure. By repentance and faith in the redeeming blood of Christ sinners are added to the church as living stones and become a holy temple of God.

Congregation and pastor must exercise great care to use only the genuine building material of pure doctrine and the unadulterated sacraments. In the text these are called: gold, silver and precious stones. These alone can stand the fiery test of that great day, while the wood and hay and stubble of false doctrine will burn.

The third glory of the church is its strength which is God in Christ Jesus. Its strength does not rest in man; not in the intelligence and efficiency of the pastor, nor in the splendid organization of the congregation, but in God only.

"May these characteristics be and remain the glory of our Lutheran church in Vernon."

An appeal was made for steadfastness in the grace of the Saviour and for mutual peaceful co-operation in the sacred work entrusted to congregation and pastor.

BEES AND TARTARIC

Beekeepers are continually being advised to add a small amount of tartaric acid to sugar-syrup when feeding such syrup to bees as winter stores, states the progress report for 1930-31-32 of the Bee Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture. The claims made for the use of tartaric acid are that it prevents the regurgitation of the syrup and assists the bees to invert the sugar.

CENTRE INSTITUTE PLANNING PARTY

OKANAGAN CENTRE, B.C., Dec. 10.—The Women's Institute held its meeting on December 5, with Mrs. Bernau in the chair. Mrs. Thompson reported $80 collected for the sidewalk, and it is hoped the renovation will be proceeded with at once.

Arrangements for the Christmas party and tree were completed. Mrs. B. Cooney and Mrs. T. Hunter have been asked to choose the gifts for the tree. Decorations will be in the hands of Miss MacLennan and Mrs. Hunter, while the refreshment committee will be Mrs. Cheesman and Mrs. Carter.

Games will be arranged by Mrs. Thompson. The party will take place on the day of school closing, Dec. 20, at 2 o'clock, and the school children are busy practising for a concert which will precede the tea.

The hostess for the afternoon was Mrs. Gray, and opportunity was taken during the tea-hour to wish bon voyage to Miss Wentworth, who is leaving for a few months' vacation in England.

A sale of Christmas gifts and home cooking then took place, the stall being in charge of Mrs. Hare and Mrs. Bernau.

A popular novelty was offered in 5c and 10c lucky packets, these proving to be far more valuable than their labels implied. The net results of sale and tea was $18 to Institute funds.

Two beautiful quilts in pink and green were exhibited by Mrs. Macfarlane.

Badminton is in full swing, a match being played in Kelowna Saturday evening.

Centre players were Mrs. and Miss Glead, Mrs. Hare, Miss Baillie, Messrs. Collinson, Wentworth, Fallow, Land.

A volleyball club has been started this year, with playing on two nights a week.

On Dec. 13 a card party, whilst and bridge, will be held in aid of the Community Hall Funds, followed by supper and a dance.

Chambers Reports Strong Support For Market Act Is Evident In The East

Government Not Likely To Take Any Hasty Action To Disrupt Control

Results of Toronto Rally Encouraging

Bright Prospects For Balance of Apple Deal — Defrosted Sales Not Good

"Everywhere I found really surprising support for the general principles of the Marketing Act,"

This was the cheering report brought back to the Okanagan by E. J. Chambers, President of the Associated Growers, who returned to Vernon on Saturday, after having visited Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, and other centres across the continent.

Mr. Chambers, in an interview with The Vernon News, explained that this legislation is occasionally attacked in the east by those who find fault with the general set-up, or matter of routine administration. But for the underlying structure of the legislation there appears to be widespread and abundant support.

Not only at the Toronto convention, where 40 agricultural associations were represented in the formation of the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture, was this support for the Marketing Act in evidence. People in different walks of life are beginning to appreciate the necessity for protecting the primary producer, and they are endorsing the terms of the legislation which affords this necessary assistance.

"It was a very comforting thing," says Mr. Chambers, "to discover that the Marketing Act is taking a much firmer hold in the east."

Interview With Gardiner

Mr. Chambers had an interview with the new Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. J. C. Gardiner. He found the minister ready and willing to hear a representation of the Okanagan's case, and as a result of this and other contacts made by Mr. Chambers in the east he reached the conclusion that "marketing operations will not likely be placed in a position of jeopardy as a result of any hasty governmental action."

It is, of course, quite probable that the Supreme Court's decision as regards the validity of the Marketing Act will be handed down for quite a long period after its sittings commence on January 15.

Should the final decision be given after parliament has broken up at the end of its session, then quite an unfortunate situation might easily arise. There might be no opportunity of remedying the situation through governmental aid, and the nature of the court's findings might be such as to place the various schemes in a defunct position.

However, the government evidently intends to do everything in its power to see that a decision is rendered, particularly as regards marketing legislation, before its parliamentary session concludes.

Then if the decision threatens to upset the orderly marketing situation, some action would very likely be taken to offset this.

Not Alarmed on Tariffs

Mr. Chambers learned nothing in the east to raise any alarm concerning the tariff situation and its probable effect on fruit. It has already been clearly defined, he said, that the government will eliminate dump duty protection for certain things. Those things have been named. The Canadian group working on the treaty apparently made clear to the United States that there would be provision for dump duties on fruit.

"And," says Mr. Chambers, "it seems somewhat unlikely that the Canadian government should not avail itself of this privilege, when it is definitely in the treaty."

Concerning the new trade pact generally, Mr. Chambers reports that, "the reaction depends upon whom you're talking to. If it's a manufacturer who must face stiff competition from across the border, then there is opposition. On the other hand, those who

Big-Horned Owls Do Much Damage

Big-horned owls are on the increase in this district, according to Game Warden Charles Still.

This is therefore the reason why pheasants are taking more than their usual precautions in roosting at night. These game birds are seeking out the thickest and thorniest trees, attempting to avoid the night raids of the owls, but the latter are still dropping down to make frequent killings.

The owls, moreover, seem to be growing more venturesome. Chicken runs have been frequently attacked. Just a short time ago an Okanagan farmer found an owl among his chickens, which had been doing damage over an extended period previously.

Game Warden Still reports that he recently killed one of these big-horned creatures with a wing spread of 4 feet 9 inches.

Besides the injury done to game birds, the owls also take a toll of muskrats and other small fur-bearing animals, and sportsmen are therefore being urged to kill these owls whenever the opportunity arises.

VAIN ATTEMPT TO END SUFFERING OF INJURED DEER

Unfortunate Animal, With Lower Jaw Shot Away, Is Pursued By Mara Riflemen

MARA, B.C., Dec. 3.—A very unusual happening occurred here recently, when several people outside the Mara store were surprised to see a badly wounded deer come past the store, and go down to the river, crossing over to the Stevenson ranch. The animal had its lower jaw shot away. Some of the boys hurried to get a gun, to save the animal any more suffering, but were too late. It seems that hunters are none too careful in deer hunting when things like this occur.

Peachland's Council Holds Stormiest Meeting in Years

Electric Light Committee Is Clashing Point of Brisk Discussion

PEACHLAND, B.C., Dec. 2.—The Council meeting held on Monday afternoon of last week here was one of the stormiest held in recent times, with criticism made of the electric light committee by Reeve Topham, while Councillor Bradley, chairman of that committee, charged that his department had been interfered with. The latter also referred to orders given of which he knew nothing and which were in contradiction to what he had arranged.

He charged that the recent contract for poles was let while he was absent for a few minutes, at the last meeting, and this contract should not have been made without calling for tenders.

Councillor Chidley stated that it was

SCOUTS AID IN PREPARATION OF CHRISTMAS TOYS

Shop For Repairing Broken Toys Will Be Operated In Hankey Building

The Vernon Boy Scouts' Christmas toy shop, which is operated annually for the purpose of repairing old and broken toys to be distributed to needy children, will be operated this year in the old Hankey building on Barnard Avenue and all people possessing these articles are urgently requested to leave them at this place.

The doors will be open in business hours from December 13 until the work is completed.

This year the work is being aided by the Rover Sea Scouts. This newly-formed organization is now on a sound financial footing secured from the results of the recent dance.

Through the kindness of the Rotary Club of Vernon the Rovers were presented with a splendid metal life boat. Minor replacements and overhauling will be undertaken this winter and spring in order to prepare for the group's nautical activities during the summer months. The Sea Scouts also contemplate a rapid completion of the Scout cabin at Otter Bay.

A rush job and that it required a competent man to put up poles.

The road program was also under fire. Councillors Bradley stating that each Councillor was to be in charge of the work in his own ward, but that work had been authorized in his ward and men put to work without his sanction.

He objected to men working over their time as it was not fair to others who had not yet worked out their time. Councillor Chidley said that men had been asked to work repeatedly, who had refused and to get the jobs done they had been forced to keep men on longer. Immediate work was to be started on the Trimble corner.

With Councillor Bradley and Councillor Kinchin in favor and Councillors Eddy and Chidley against the resolution to give $10 to the Christmas Tree fund was lost.

Licenses on reverted Trojaner properties were cancelled according to a letter received from the Water Office at Victoria.

"Thwarting of Instinct For Mastery Causes Majority of Preventable Mental Ailments"

—Dr. J. W. Pilcher

U.B.C. Lecturer Emphasizes the Value of Making Healthy "Adjustment" of Instincts

Nearly all preventable mental illnesses are owing to the thwarting of the instinct for mastery.

This was the viewpoint emphasized by Dr. J. Wyman Pilcher, of the University of British Columbia, who spoke on "Problems of Personality" before a large and attentive audience in the National Ballroom here on Thursday evening of last week.

This theory, Dr. Pilcher asserted, is held today by all reputable teachers and students of psychology, and it is forming the basis for the study of crime and for the improvement of teaching methods.

The child who steals, for example, will nearly always be found to be one who does not excel either in studies or in sports. The gratification that usually arises from succeeding in something, is denied him. What, then, can he do to establish himself? He will steal, and "put something over" on the others. He has then outsmarted them, and he obtains his satisfaction in that way.

Sealing, Dr. Pilcher suggested, can be described in many cases as a mental ailment. A great deal of crime is in the same category. At the root of the problems involved is mental adjustment of some form, and practically always there is the thwarting of this instinct for mastery.

At the outset of her address, the speaker attacked the Freudian school. "The literature is dangerous and unsound," she remarked, referring also to the writings of Jung, Adler, and other disciples of Freud. The error in their teachings, she said, lies in the fact that they place too much weight upon merely one human instinct.

Dr. Pilcher then undertook to review the viewpoint generally held today by scientific students of the mind. She declared that once a nerve current is set up, there is tension unless it reaches its outlet, a muscle or a gland. There are various instinctive responses to stimuli, and if these responses are interfered with, then the individual must "adjust." He must find some other way of reacting. Otherwise tension develops. And very often the individual sets out upon the road that leads actually to unsoundness of mentality.

Active "Adjustment" Is Healthy

The speaker roughly reviewed the major instincts, which are closely related to basic emotions. Whenever the normal response to any of these instincts is blocked, she repeated, another outlet must be found. And the important point is that if this "adjustment" is an active one, it is usually a healthy one.

For example, the instinctive response to anger might take the form of striking the other who prompted the anger. This, in conventional society, is not always advisable. Dr. Pilcher pointed out, with a laugh, "But you can, and often do, take it out on the woodpile," she added.

In this connection the lecturer also referred to a Saskatchewan teacher who solved the problem of discipline in her classes by introducing boxing. In sport, in an active manner, the pupils found an "adjustment" that was healthy.

Understand Problems

"Most of us, however, must make mental adjustments when our instinctive wishes are blocked. Sometimes there may be a slight imbalance as a consequence. We may become daydreamers, or cynics, or perpetual grouches. But, for the most part, if we understand our problems, we can make our adjustments satisfactorily, and continue to lead mentally healthy and happy lives."

Returning to what she frequently described as "this instinct for mastery," Dr. Pilcher pointed out that every normal person wishes to gain the esteem of others. Admiration and approval are always sought. And if they cannot be won by the usual and ordinary processes, through successful effort, then other means will be taken. Hunger for

Vernon Cagers Hold Kelowna To One Point Lead Here But Slump in Return Game Away

"Pi" Campbell Did Trojan Work In First Fixture—Local Girls Victorious

By the slim margin of one lone point, Kelowna's highly touted Famous Players defeated a fighting Vernon crew, 30-29, in a fast and exciting basketball game in the Scout Hall on Thursday evening of last week before a very small audience.

In a preliminary contest, the Vernon Intermediate A girls handed their Orchard City rivals a 15-9 setback, in a game marked for the most part by the almost uncanny ability of the majority of players on each team to miss the basket from close in.

That the local men did not walk off the floor with the evening's honors was largely due to the fast and heady game played by "Pi" Campbell, former University and Coast star, and for the past several seasons one of the mainstays on Kelowna aggregations. In addition to this brilliant defensive game, Campbell was the evening's big noise near the basket, scoring 13 points to lead both teams. Nine points of his total for the evening were piled up in the first half, as he seemed to be holding a magic wand over the Vernon defense, and waving it for all he was worth.

The redoubtable Wills brothers, Jack and Walter, Homer Cochrane, alternating at centre with Howard Urquhart, and Ronnie Dean and Gamble LeBlond formed the Vernon mainstay throughout the evening, although substitutes were freely used.

Stars Missing

The Famous Players were minus some of their stars of last year, including Griffiths, Pettman, and Forbes, but had the services of Harold Johnston, former High School and Senior star, who has been absent for several seasons, and in addition used Tostenen, a promising youngster, who last year played with the Kelowna Intermediates. Unlike Vernon teams of former years this season's Seniors have a large crop of coming players, no less than ten men turning out in strip, and all being given floor duty by coach "Dolly" Gray.

With teams started out slowly, feeling out their opponents and with the locals taking the offensive, but having tough luck with their shooting.

However, the first marker came out of a scramble around the Vernon basket, being dropped in by Maurice Meikle, followed by a free shot by Campbell and then came two local tallies from Jack Wills and Cochrane, who scooped one off the floor to make the score 4-3 for Vernon.

From then on the visitors forged ahead always being closely followed by Vernon.

Passes by both teams began to be thrown wildly while the shooting left

Superior Ball Handling And Height Give Orchard City Boys An Advantage

Experience, combined with superior ball handling ability and height, spelled the undoing of the Vernon Senior B basketball team by a 43-27 score in a return match with the Kelowna Famous Players, in a listless encounter in the Orchard City Scout Hall on Saturday night.

After the Vernonites' sensational stand against their rivals here on Thursday, great things were expected of them, but Kelowna retained its reputation of being an almost unbeatable team at home and lived up to the standard remarkably well.

Failure to stop the Famous Players' two six-foot odd forwards, Ryan and Johnston, was an important contributory factor in the Vernon loss, as these two huskies snatched 20 points, 10 each, and at time ran through the locals' defense like water, after rebounds, going clear over the guards' heads.

The locals started out well in the first few minutes, but slumped badly before half time, finding the score 25-13. After the rest interval they became even more disgruntled, not finding the basket once for about the first 12 minutes, while Kelowna piled up point after point.

With the time fading fast, they again put life into the game, and headed by Jack Wills and Ronnie Dean, battled on more or less even terms for the remainder.

Noted for their strict enforcement of rules, the Kelowna referees lived up to their reputation, calling no less than 19 fouls on Vernon, with the Famous Players sinking only three, while the locals' average was five out of 13 granted them. Some of the calls seemed slightly "off color" or for very minor offences, but the arbiters were also called on to deal with considerable bawling and holding, Vernon being given the majority of the calls for this. McKay opened the scoring in the first half with a deftly-caught rebound after Johnston missed a free shot, but Cochrane followed a minute later with a basket from centre floor, while Dean sank the second on a neat pass from Cochrane.

After competing on even terms for half of the first frame the local offensive started on the down grade.

Jack Wills, elusive forward, and Ronnie Dean, star guard, were the chief Vernon players trying to stem the incoming tide of Kelowna players, Wills especially being polished in intercepting passes around the centre floor, in addition to snaring eight points.

Vernon's passes and shooting were constantly going astray during the

VERNON RIFLEMEN COMMENCE SHOOTS

Regular Winter Practices Start — To Compete With Other Interior Centres

The Vernon Rifle Club commenced its regular winter practice shoots recently in the Armory, with about fourteen members attending.

President W. H. Hall announces that the club's annual meeting will be held this evening, Thursday, when a new slate of officers will be elected and plans will be laid for the season's sport.

It has been decided to enter the B.C. Rifle Association shoots and Dominion Cartridge Rifle Association contests, and it is expected, states Mr. Hall, that from 25 to 30 members will be enrolled shortly.

The basement of the Armories has been fitted up as a regular indoor rifle range, and the club uses .22 calibre rifles at 25 yards range.

Until the first of the New Year all will be practice shoots, but then competitions will be held with various other interior clubs.

LUMBY'S HOCKEY CLUB ORGANIZES FOR THIS SEASON

LUMBY, B.C., Dec. 10.—The annual meeting of the Lumby Hockey Club took place recently at the Community Hall with President, J. Martin, in the chair.

Hockey possibilities for this season were discussed, and S. Forester and O. Christen were appointed delegates to attend the Okanagan Valley League meeting, held last week end in Vernon.

It was interesting to hear that Summerland may be coming into the league this season.

The following were elected to office: President, J. Martin, Jr., re-elected; Secretary, Stephen Ward; Treasurer, re-elected. Apparently there will be no difficulty in forming a good hockey team.

C. Copeland will be in charge of the rink, which will be run under the auspices of the Lumby Community Club. Arrangements are being made to flood the rink, but the present weather does not hold out any hope of early skating.

VIOLET HORN ALMOST COMPLETELY RECOVERED

"Violet Horn is now almost completely well and so full of life it's marvelous," reports her mother, Mrs. Rose Horn, from Armstrong. Miss Horn, who was injured during a horse race at the fall exhibition at Kamloops, was taken home from the Royal Inland Hospital on October 1, and has made a splendid recovery. Her good health and outdoor life have been in her favor.

Four Killed in Street Battle in Mexico

Mexican Revolution's 25th anniversary was observed in violent fashion in Mexico City. Following a huge parade, Communists and the Fascist gold shirtists clashed. Four persons were killed and 34 injured. A general strike also threatens Mexico unless government dissolves gold shirtists.

UNION LIBRARY PROJECT GAINING STRONG SUPPORT

Nearly Every Centre Taking Steps To Hold Plebiscite Early Next Year

"The Union Library project has met with interest and even enthusiasm throughout the Okanagan Valley, and practically every section is taking steps to bring the matter of establishing such a service to a public vote early in January," reports Dr. Helen Stewart.

According to the Library Act, authority to hold a plebiscite on the question will be granted on the request of 10 percent of the qualified ratepayers of any district, and petitions are pouring in from all quarters at the present time. In Vernon a petition for a plebiscite has been concluded. Alderman C. J. Hurt, H. K. Bearstoe and R. W. Ley obtained the signatures, and are to be commended for their efforts. Salmon Arm held an enthusiastic meeting and exhibit of books recently, and decided to swing in with the Okanagan in this matter, at least to the extent of giving the electors of both city and municipality a chance to say for themselves what they want. And all the rural school districts surrounding it, to Chase toward the north, and to Westworld from the Silver Creek direction, have followed this lead. Rayelstoke's petition arrived in Vernon several days ago.

In the Okanagan proper, from Osoyoos to Sicamous only a few of the small outlying school districts have failed to return a response. Vernon's petition, went through with a thoroughness and a lack of fuss which speaks well for city and committee alike.

Kelowna's recent exhibit of books brought ready appreciation from the district of the signatures, and, Summerland went over the top with its Home Products Fair recently. Enderby has signed, and also Armstrong and Spallumcheen. Peachland held its public meeting on Thursday night, and an exhibit of books on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at which the lists were completed.

Many Petitions In Among the earlier petitions actually complete and at hand were: Enderby, Kelowna, Revelstoke, Summerland, Ashton Creek, Bannockburn, Gairdner, Enderby, Kelowna, Granddod, Enderby, Kelowna, Naramata, Okanagan Centre, Okanagan Falls, Oryana, Rutland, Silver Creek, Testalinda, Westbank, Balmoral, Chase, North Hill, Sunnybrae, Eagle Valley, Lumby, and Coldstream.

Establishment of union libraries in this province was provided for by an act of the legislature, but is at present operative only in the lower Fraser Valley. Operation of this scheme in British Columbia was made possible through a grant from the Carnegie Foundation, who gave $15,000 for the scheme, and, finding it successful, have now given another equal sum to assist in creation of another union library in this province.

The B.C. Library Commission has complete control of this fund and it was at first proposed to expend the money on whichever of three localities, West Kootenay, the Okanagan Valley, and Vancouver Island, showed the greatest desire for it.

Provisions of the scheme at present are that if only one area shows favor, it will receive the whole grant; if two decided for the scheme, the $15,000 will be divided; and if all three favor the proposal, the Carnegie Foundation has promised to increase the grant so that each will obtain a share equal to half the original sum.

The money will be expended in paying the costs of the preliminary surveys, and in purchasing necessary equipment such as new books and travelling vans.

Acceptance of the union library in any one district will mean a small additional tax. This is a per capita charge and is not levied solely on land, and every man, whether he pays a land tax, poll tax, or road tax, will be charged an equal amount for library purposes.

Rural school districts have at present no power to tax other than landowners, but the Union Library Act provides machinery by which they can collect the equivalent of road or poll tax for library purposes. Owners of two or more properties in the same district pay on only one and joint owners of a single property pay but one fee between them. By this system, declares Dr. Stewart, it is thus a real per capita tax and there is no place in the interior where the amount levied will be more than $1.00 a year.

When the scheme is in operation, each taxpayer, who has paid his levy, and the members of his family will receive cards entitling them to take out the full number of books permitted under the regulations.

The library in the interior will have between 30,000 and 35,000 books from existing stocks, as nearly all other lib-much to be desired, Vernon especially missing some fine chances. The half time score was 22-15 for the Famous Players, with Vernon trailing but finishing up with a spurt supplied again by the lively Jack Willis.

Nearly all the evening's action and much of the game's color centered in the last period and especially in the last ten minutes, when the locals started on a scoring spree and at the same time, aided by some breaks, held Campbell down in a fairly efficient manner.

With only one minute to full time, Kelowna took time out after a key-hole shot by Howard Gray had brought the score up to 28-26 and with the locals pressing hard around their opponents' basket.

With time almost gone Campbell dashed up the floor for his final basket of the game, followed by Walter Willis, but before another play could be put in motion the game had ended.

Excitement during the last period ran high among the fans, but one regrettable feature on the part of a section of the juvenile crowd was the continual clamor when a Kelowna player stepped up to take a free shot. This unsportsmanlike attitude is unfortunate and only tends to give Vernon sports followers a poor name in other interior cities.

In the preliminary event, Lorraine McEwen, elongated running guard of the Vernites, was the big scoring push, garnering 11 of her team's points. For the losers Hill and Melkie showed up well, but both teams were unable to concentrate around the basket, letting chances go for clear points.

TO BUILD NEW CATHOLIC CHURCH

Beautiful Situation Chosen Overlooking Lake At Oyama—Foundation Work Starts

OYAMA, B.C., Dec. 9.—Work on the foundation of the new Roman Catholic Church which is shortly to be built in this district was started last week. The church will be beautifully situated overlooking the lake and surrounded by young fir trees.

A meeting is to be held in the Oyama Hall on Friday of this week for the purpose of forming a young people's club in this district. Oyama has now some 45 young men and girls, and it is hoped to start a club which will be both educational and entertaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge arrived home during the week, having spent a short holiday at the Coast.

The Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's Church held a very enjoyable and successful social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lowe on Friday evening. There were nine tables of bridge, the winners for the evening being ladies' first, Mrs. Aldred, Sr.; gentlemen's first, E. Crawford.

A large doll which had been beautifully dressed by Mrs. Floyd Whipple, president of the Junior Auxiliary, was raffled, and was won by Mrs. James Lowe. A Christmas cake made by Miss R. Hicks was also raffled, the lucky winner being R. Peters.

Marries have agreed to pool their stocks. Approximately 5,000 of this number will be children's volumes.

In addition to these books there will be others provided from the Carnegie grant at the commencement of operations and regular editions from time to time will be made of up-to-date issues.

These books will be kept in circulation by a travelling van, which will call regularly in all areas, visiting the service, taking books from one library to another and also acting as a travelling library itself, from which people may make selections at certain points in the country.

Districts which turn down the scheme will not receive the service, but may perhaps come in later if they choose. Individuals in these areas may participate by the payment of a higher fee than will be charged in areas served directly.

OTTAWA WRITER ADMIRES APPLES FROM THIS AREA

But Is Puzzled By Inability To Secure Adequate Supplies This Season

"A correspondent of the Ottawa 'Journal' finds B.C. apples to his liking. He finds quality, uniformity, and graded sizes. But he has been puzzled by his inability to secure supplies of these apples this season. His letter to the Ottawa paper, is as follows, and will be of interest to Okanagan readers:

Sir—I am puzzled by my inability to buy British Columbia apples in Ottawa this Fall and I wonder, Mr. Editor, if you can throw any light on the situation.

I submit, Sir, that the B.C. McIntosh is one of the finest fruits that grow—firm, juicy, delicately flavored, red as apples should be. Judge, therefore, of my consternation when I am told we shall not have any of them in Ottawa this season.

I am told also that I should be glad to patronize home producers, buy the local McIntoshes. That is all right, and I admit the force of the argument, but I hold that the growers do not meet their share of the implied obligation. They seem to know very little about packing and grading, and if the consumer doesn't like the way they do things—well, he can eat oranges. I like to know what I am buying when I buy apples, and in the B.C. packages there is quality, uniformity, graded size.

A retailer tells me the B.C. growers decline to send apples to Ontario this Fall because last year they were unable to sell at a profitable price. To me this seems almost incredible, because most consumers, I am sure, gladly would pay a premium for the assurance with which they can buy goods that are packed with some regard for the purchaser's wishes. But perhaps you can enlighten me. (Signed) "M."

Editor's Note:—The Dominion Department of Agriculture reports that only the carloads of B.C. apples have come into Ottawa so far this autumn. The principal reasons for this were given as: (1) The exceptional marketing opportunity in the British Isles where the native apple crop was badly reduced by frost in the Spring; (2) The smaller average size of apples in B.C., which means a smaller proportion of so-called unexportable sizes. There is very little export for apples packing 125 to the box and larger, which sizes were abundant last year and shipped in heavy quantities to Eastern Canada.

Wholesale fruit dealers report that they have adequate supplies of the highest grade of B.C. McIntoshes but the retailers were slow in buying them on account of the fact that they were selling at 25 to 30 cents a bushel more than last year.

"DIAMOND JIM" COMES TO LIFE ONCE AGAIN IN NOTABLE PICTURE

Edward Arnold Plays Part of Millionaire Playboy Who Rocked Broadway

"Diamond Jim" Brady, flashiest figure in night life history, owned thirty different sets of jewelry, one for every day of the month, a total fortune of $2,000,000 in gems. Replens of all these had to be procured for the movie version of "Diamond Jim." This picture comes to the Empress Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, December 18 and 19.

That the picture could be an authentic reproduction of the life and times of Brady, a nation-wide search was conducted for furniture, cars, bicycles and other things that figured so prominently in the super-salesman's career. Wherever possible, the real item was secured. In some instances, however, exact replicas were made.

Edward Arnold, playing the starring role, Joan Arthur as the woman he loved, Blinnie Barnes as Lillian Russell, had to go into training for the role of "Diamond Jim." He had to add weight, thin actors have to lose weight for parts. Many of the scenes show Arnold consuming huge meals, some of them costing hundreds of dollars.

On this same program is another picture, "Cheating Cheaters," starring Fay Wray, Oscar Romero, Minna Gombell, and Hugh O'Connell.

THWARTING OF "MASTERY" CAUSES MENTAL AILMENT

sympathy, adventure, achievement, success, enter into the picture. "But we are prevented all day long from gratifying our instinctive impulses," the speaker continued. "We have our social conventions, our laws, and our tabus. These are imposed on us by our environment, and often very rightly so. Again, we often have two instincts working directly against each other, and it is thus evident that one must be blocked. It is apparent that adjustments must be made constantly."

The Day Dreamer

Sometimes the person, who is failing to make correct adjustments, however, falls into the habit of "imagining he is able to do those things which he actually cannot." The individual withdraws into himself. He becomes a day-dreamer, often in increasing intensity, and becomes filled with negative thinking. This, Dr. Pilcher stated, offers a good picture of the average "dementia praecox" case in its earlier stages.

Continuing, the lecturer drew attention to the "smart Alec," whose attitude is merely an attempt to cover up deficiencies; and to the bully, whom teachers and students of mental hygiene agree upon as a most serious type. This latter person, whose vanity or sense of mastery is wounded in some way, shows his superiority by "taking it out" on a smaller person.

Dr. Pilcher also spoke of the man of small stature, who so often "compensates" by developing marked gestures, a loud voice, or some other interest-provoking attitude; and of the timid person who "over-compensates" with a cloak of abruptness, in order to protect his super-sensitiveness. There is always, he said, that tendency towards re-establishing the individual's good opinion of himself.

So often a musician attends a recital, not in order to enjoy the music, and not in order to admire the performer, but in the hope of finding flaws in the performance. If he does so, his sense of his own importance is strengthened.

"Understanding these attitudes of people will enable us to keep from becoming too unbalanced ourselves, and will conduce to our mental well-being." In concluding the speaker emphasized the assertion that, "Most of our mental ills arise from the fact that we are blind to our own limitations. If we could but face ourselves, we should be infinitely happier." She attacked the habit of rationalization, or of finding an alibi for what one wishes to do, though better counsel may advise otherwise. "Recognize your failings and limitations," Dr. Pilcher suggested. "Face yourself honestly, and your lack of adjustments will vanish."

"There is a great deal that can be learned in this field, and perhaps a study of all its phases will enable us to be less critical of others and more honest with ourselves."

Alderman C. J. Hurt, who presided over the meeting, introduced the speaker, and the vote of thanks was proposed by M. S. Middleton.

KOKANEES FIND A VERY READY SALE

GRAND FORKS, B.C., Dec. 10.—Shipments of kokanees from Christina Lake, near here, are now being made at the rate of about 6,000 pounds a week, mostly to the Calgary market, where a live trade has developed.

While limited shipments of kokanees have been made in former years, mostly to local points, the output had only reached something like 3,000 to 4,000 pounds last year. But this year there has already been something like 20,000 pounds gone to market and the demand is steadily increasing. At first the price at the lake is said to have been around eight cents a pound, but owing to the large quantities being taken it is understood that the price has been reduced.

OLIVER WELTER SCORES VICTORY

OLIVER, B.C., Dec. 7.—Willard Foster, Oliver's up and coming young welterweight, scored a six round decision over Len Harvey, of Saskatoon, in the main bout of a boxing card put on in the Oliver Hall on December 3. Harvey showed a willingness to swap punches and mix it with Foster, but Foster's ruggedness and effective left were too much for the Saskatoon lad. Foster scored the only knockdown of the bout in the second round, but Harvey was up again without a count.

In the preliminaries Alex Wilson, of Oliver, fought four rounds to a draw with Bob Bradley, of Nelson. Seconds for Willie Derickson tossed in the towel in the middle of the second round after Derickson was floored by Red Godberg. Two local juveniles, Archie Mitchell and R. Stewart, opened the card with a fast four round bout. Mitchell won the decision.

The Week On Parliament Hill

OTTAWA, Dec. 10.—A Dominion government will battle ardently in the Dominion's highest court within the next few weeks in defence of legislation passed by a Conservative government. The paradoxical situation, one of the most peculiar in political history, has arisen from the King government's decision to secure a legal ruling on the Bennett "New Deal" acts. The start of what promises to be a long drawn out argument between the Dominion and the Provinces will be reached when the Supreme Court convenes January 15. In its efforts to secure the widest possible power for the federal government, the Dominion will vigorously defend the measures passed by the party that is now the official opposition.

The legal argument, potent with technicalities, should provide a talking point for history teachers through many years to come. The measures to be placed before the court include minimum wages, hours of labour, health legislation, and other social reforms, including the Marketing Act.

The Dominion government will defend the legislation as being legally sound while the provinces will attack it, claiming that it infringes on their rights. Dominion constitutional changes will be presented to parliament following the court's decision to overcome weaknesses of the British North America Act which may be made apparent from this judicial survey of the constitution.

It is generally admitted in inner parliamentary circles here that Premier King's southern holiday has not been entirely a time of play. He has sought and found relief from the rush and bustle that comes in the wake of every election, but he has, close friends insist, been using his seclusion to ponder on several questions which he will have to answer within the next few weeks or months.

Ottawa expects a pronouncement on his intended plans for British trade negotiations. Some of the more optimistic Liberals have been suggesting the possibility of a fast trip across the Atlantic immediately following the Dominion-Provincial Conference and settlement of an agreement before Canadians sit down to their Christmas dinners. Such a speedy and easy solution is generally regarded as highly improbable.

"Britain Suffers"—Baldwin
The expressed opinion of Prime Minister Baldwin that Britain is getting the worst of the deal under the present tariff relation with Canada holds promise for a ready hearing from British statesmen on any adjustment. While the majority of the present government do not expire until 1937, those applying to Canadian dairy products end with this year.

How much Mr. King is ready to offer in his negotiations is a matter of conjecture. It is held by some that he will use the Dunning budget of 1930 as a starting point. While the Premier at one time proposed giving British goods a 50 per cent. preference over those of other nations, it is not expected that he will be so generous at least in the early stages of the parley.

Minor shuffles will be necessary before the first parliament session to provide seats in the house for two ministers, Finance Minister Hon. C. A. Dunning, and Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, former Saskatchewan Premier.

Rumor has it here that one of the Ontario Liberal members-elect will be stepped up to the Senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Charles Murphy, and Mr. Dunning will occupy the vacated seat. A possible opening for Mr. Gardiner in the west is seen in persistent reports that Robert McKenzie, Assiniboia, is to resign to accept a government position, possibly on the unemployment commission.

Drastic steps are being taken by the King Cabinet in its determination to have a balanced budget by the end of the next fiscal year. Construction contracts totalling nearly $12,000,000 have been suspended, some are merely being re-examined but many will never be continued.

Liberal constituencies are suffering

60,000 Moslems Prepare For Action

Trouble between the Sikhs and the Moslems which has been brewing for several months, threatened to break out when the Moslems observed the second Shadidganj day in Lahore. In the above photograph a procession of 60,000 Moslems is shown.

with Conservative from this cabinet action. Consideration is being given to the heavy maintenance expenses which new buildings and other constructions would involve. The $1,000,000 Toronto Island tunnel and the $500,000 Records Building at Ottawa are among the outstanding examples of buildings stopped and unlikely to be continued.

With excitement concerning the United States-Canadian trade agreement ebbed official Ottawa now accepts the more humdrum business of preparing to put tariff changes into effect by January 1. One of the points causing most concern is that of regulations to cover Canadian tourists importing free $100 worth of U.S. merchandise.

"Smokes" Limited
"Smokes," it is understood, are likely to be limited and it will be illegal for a tourist to bring back tobacco to the full extent of his $100. Provincial laws are likely to ban liquor importations.

With details seeping out of the discussion which climaxed in the final draft of the pact it has become known that Canada was hesitant to grant this concession to her neighbor but she was faced with threatened withdrawal of a similar privilege to U.S. tourists and feared a heavy loss.

Two defeated party leaders have spoken words of encouragement to their followers. The Reconstruction party, said Hon. H. H. Stevens, its leader and sole parliamentary representative, would be continued as a permanent reform movement. James I. Acker, Toronto, has been appointed Dominion organizer.

Opposition leader R. B. Bennett, Conservative chief, reflected on the election "not as a defeat but rather as an incentive to renewed and greater effort." He found satisfaction in the expressed opinion of Canadians favoring continuance of the two-party system. Quiet and persistent organization, said the former premier, would mean mobilization for victory.

First echoes of anticipated radio policy changes were heard in the apparently reliable reports that the much-criticized two dollar radio license fee is to be abolished. Under the rumored change an indirect tax through a levy on tubes and increased advertising revenue will be used by the government to counteract the loss that would be suffered.

Almost simultaneously with the report came the statement from government officials that radio license collections were increased and that listeners would contribute in the neighborhood of $1,500,000 to Federal coffers this year in two dollar license fees.

The government has taken the first step towards the abolition of relief camps, known in some circles as "slave camps." With the completion of a report from a three-man commission appointed to survey the camp problem, labor minister Hon. Norman Rogers is hopeful that it will be possible to close the camps.

Members of the investigating commission are: R. A. Riggs, Government Employment Service Chief, Humphrey Mitchell, former Hamilton Labor member, and Dr. E. W. Bradwin, Frontier College President. Their study and framing of the report is expected to take about two months.

The majority of the 134 camps which now house about 20,000 men are located in Alberta and British Columbia. The men have been paid at the rate of 20 cents a day, a wage which has cost the federal taxpayers a total of $1,500,000 a year.

PULITZER PRIZE NOVEL IS BROUGHT TO SCREEN

Striking characterizations highlight "Alice Adams," the Booth Tarkington story that won the Pulitzer Prize in 1922, coming to the Empress Theatre in film form on Monday and Tuesday, December 16 and 17.

The drama concerns a girl's gallant struggle to rise from the mire of poverty and social oblivion in a small Midwestern town, where wealth is the yardstick of success. The heroine of the story is an appealing combination of fineness, pretense, romance and courage. Katharine Hepburn is starred in this brilliant role, which parallels the appeal of her characterization in "Morning Glory."

CHAMBERS REPORTS STRONG SUPPORT FOR MARKET ACT

see a prospective market in the United States are enthusiastic.
People at large, however, seem to be of the opinion that it is a step in the right direction, and that it might be wise to "give it a try, anyway."

The results of the conference at which the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture was formed, were very reassuring. Strong moral backing was evident, and the delegates in attendance from all parts of Canada seemed men of responsibility and purpose.

Financing Problem
"The real difficulty," Mr. Chambers acknowledged, "will be in arranging financing. The Chamber might set up an office at Ottawa, and might need to have a fund of about $15,000 for this purpose. Personally I am rather inclined to doubt the wisdom of this course. On the other hand, the directors might choose to operate on an economical basis, more or less confining the work within the machinery of other agricultural associations now in existence. This would not be a very expensive undertaking, and it could very easily be managed. At the same time the power of the Chamber could still be maintained."

That the defrosted apples are not having a very good reception was Mr. Chambers' discovery as he travelled homeward. The jobbers look upon the deal as very much of a gamble, and they are wary. This has also affected the regular trading.

"However, I am pleased to say that there are bright prospects for the balance of the deal. Once this defrosted apple marketing situation is cleared up, things should go quite well. There is every indication of that."
Stocks and local supplies are low in Ontario. There has been a stimulated demand for B.C. apples there recently. Montreal has shown a distinct pick-up, and other centres appear to offer equally good prospects. On the prairies, likewise, the outlook is encouraging one.

some sections of the Okanagan. How extensive the damage is, will not be definitely known until next summer. Fortunately for us our neighborhood seems pretty free of injury.

"You don't think that the fruit buds will be damaged enough to destroy the crop?" asked Will.

"My opinion," replied Hiram, "in the orchards I have visited is that there is not a great deal of damage to fruit buds of apple trees."

"I am glad to hear that," offered Will "because I have been led to believe that the crop was practically ruined for next year."

"Undoubtedly there will be some reduction in the crop in some orchards, but generally speaking, the older trees seem to have come through the frost pretty well. Newtown, Rome Beauty, Stayman, Winesap and Delicious trees are showing the most injury, where damage is found. Old trees are showing as a rule, no damage at all, or only slight damage, but on trees from one to ten years old the damage ranges from slight to severe; some will die."

"I have cut several twigs and there does not seem to be any discoloration of the wood," said Will.

"The peculiar thing about this freeze," explained Hiram, "is that there seems little damage to the young wood. Most of the damage is centred at the base of the trunk and around the crotches. Many orchards showed no injury midway between the ground and the branches nor in the branches a short way from the crotch. Others showed damage throughout the tree."

"Can you tell whether a tree is damaged or not by just looking at it?" asked Will.

"No," replied Hiram, "the damage can only be found by using a knife. Cut into the bark as far as the wood and if the cambium layer is showing brown, there has been damage. The more severe the damage the darker the brown. In very severe cases the bark

Doings on The Utellum Ranch

"I heard a long discourse on frost damage to trees while in the post office the other day, and there seemed to be considerable speculation as to the amount of damage done by the frost," said Will Work to Hiram Phindus.

"Frost damage to trees is a very difficult thing to estimate," suggested Hiram, "but after examining a large number of trees it is safe to say that there has been considerable damage to trees."

"How extensive the damage is, will not be definitely known until next summer. Fortunately for us our neighborhood seems pretty free of injury."

will have a black or dark brown water-soaked appearance throughout its entire thickness, but where damage is less severe the discoloration will only be where the bark meets the wood."

"Seems peculiar," speculated Will, "that the damage does not show all over the tree, but I suppose there is some explanation."

"It has," explained Hiram, "been investigated and it is the opinion of research workers that the base of the tree and the crotch are last parts of the tree to mature. At the time of the frost all of our trees were immature. This is indicated by the leaves on the trees. Maturity and hardness are closely associated with each other. With few exceptions they go hand-in-hand. Most observing people will have noticed that in normal seasons the leaves fall from our hardy, native trees, before they do from our fruit trees; that the crab apple trees drop their leaves before the less hardy McIntosh, and the McIntosh before the less hardy Delicious or Newtown. Maturity and the degrees of frost are the governing factors in the amount of tree damage in the Okanagan this year. The soft, succulent, late-growing trees are showing the greatest damage. For this reason there is varying degrees of damage to individual trees of the same variety in the one orchard."

"Could anything," asked Will, "have been done to prevent this damage?"

"I do not say that anything could have been done," replied Hiram. "This spring was very late and had the fall temperature been normal the growing season would still have been shorter than usual. The combined late spring and very severe fall frost were somewhat beyond the control of us fruit growers."

"It is pretty hard luck to have a thriving young orchard partially killed and damaged by frost," offered Will. "Can anything be done about it?"

"Not very much at present," explained Hiram. "Of course, an orchard should be examined before pruning, and if damage is showing in any variety, it would be a wise procedure to delay pruning until the extent of the damage can be ascertained. A few young orchards have already been pruned that will have to be gone over again. It is probable that branches may have been cut off that would have been found useful."

"If upon examining the trees, they do not show damage, I suppose it would be all right to prune as usual," questioned Will.

"Certainly," replied Hiram.

"How about stone fruits?" asked Will.

"The damage to stone fruit trees in orchards I have examined," explained Hiram, "is not generally so severe as to apple trees. As temperatures varied so greatly in different localities, and the maturity

Major Problems of Country Must Be Solved Before Canada Can Expect to Make Normal Progress

Sir Charles Gordon, President, Strongly Urges Government to Balance Budgets of the Country — Deals Firmly With Urgent Necessity of Finding Solution of Costly Railway Situation — Takes View That Newspaper Situation Should be Regarded as a Federal Matter of Greatest Importance.

Jackson Dodds, Joint General Manager, Reviews Progress Made by Bank During Year — Explains Changes in Statements Due to Establishment of Bank of Canada — Unmistakable Evidence of Increased Confidence Throughout Country — Burden of Taxation Sapping Energy and Enterprise.

BANK OF MONTREAL ANNUAL MEETING

Following a year in which trade recovery was continued, but in less definite degree than in 1935, and in which the gains of that year were consolidated, there is no gainsaying the fact that all the most important problems in our national affairs remain to be dealt with, said Sir Charles Gordon, president of the Bank of Montreal, at the annual meeting of the shareholders held in the head office of the bank in Montreal, Sir Charles dealt with developments attendant on the change in government which had occurred during the year at several points in his address, in which he presented much food for earnest reflection as well as solid reasons for encouragement. In the latter connection, he referred to the stability of commodity prices which continues to characterize the trade situation, increased production in several manufacturing industries including newspaper, motor cars, textiles, boots and shoes, pig iron and steel ingots and castings — the increase in output of electrical energy. Although there had been a substantial amount of repair work going on throughout the country, the building industry still lagged behind contributing to unemployment, and in this connection, he said, no really important increase can be looked for until we catch up with the over-expansion which took place in many directions and until there is a return of confidence to the business initiative may again be induced to invest money in new construction. In regard to the harvest, which exceeded that of 1935, despite damage by rust and frost in Western Canada, Sir Charles said that "it is gratifying to note that the difference between the selling prices of the farmers' products and the cost of commodities which he is obliged to purchase is not now such a serious handicap as formerly. The gap, which on the basis of 1926 prices was as great as 66% during the worst of the depression in 1933, has been reduced to 12% or thereabouts; that is to say, the agriculturist is still at a 12% disadvantage when compared with his position in 1926 but it is very much better off than he was two years ago."

Coming to the underlying factors in the economic situation, Sir Charles referred to the federal general election, saying the electorate had rejected socialist doctrines and adding: "I rank this emphatic repudiation of fantastic nostrums and Utopian experiments as the most important development in Canada since the Ottawa Agreements, and through the connections which your bank has in other countries I am in a position to say that it has immensely enhanced the prestige of the Dominion abroad."

Referring to the problems which remain to be faced by the new government, Sir Charles mentioned the railway situation, unemployment, the wheat surplus and newspaper. In regard to these problems he declared "that the people of this country want to know in respect to these major problems is not what CAN NOT be done, but what CAN be done." As a solution for the railway problem he suggested:—"What can be done, and what must be done, is to put an end to the utterly unwarranted competition and duplication of railways by our two great railway systems. In this connection I repeat what I said last year, namely, that railways to-day face extraordinary competition from other means of transportation, and that railways competing against each other in the ruinous way that ours do can never succeed in adopting a common policy to meet these other forms of competition. More than ever it is necessary to coordinate all forms of transportation, not by the throttling of competitive systems, but by the elimination of useless competition by means of intelligent direction. A first step is the co-ordination of our railways. A second step is the regulation of all forms of transportation under a Federal Board of Transportation Commissioners with powers similar to those of the Board of Railway Commissioners, but on a wider and more comprehensive scale."

Dealing with trade conditions, Mr. Dodds referred to Canada's example in entering into the Empire Trade agreements and the new trade treaty with the United States. Declaring that gradual recovery in world commerce will continue as men of good will with courage, ability, initiative, enterprise and ingenuity devise means by which trading may be resumed on more normal lines. He emphasized that we should put our international affairs in order to insure Canada being properly equipped to take a prominent part in world trade on whatever basis and scale it may be resumed in future.

ANNAPOLIS VALLEY FRUIT GROWERS IN BETTER POSITION

1935 Yield Should Be One of Most Profitable in History of Industry

KENTVILLE, N.S., Dec. 9.—Registration an impressive advance in price over recent years Annapolis Valley apples selling in United Kingdom markets this season are bringing returns to growers in the counties of Kings, Queens and Annapolis which should make the 1935 yield, one of the most profitable if not the most profitable in the long history of the industry.

Not as large as the record crops of the last two years, the 1935 crop, estimated to be in the vicinity of 1,050,000 barrels, will according to general opinion, prove to be the most successful from a financial standpoint in many years, and may establish an all-time record. That it will outstrip any other crop in gross value there seems to be no doubt.

Valley growers will deserve a break. For years the great majority have

As a solution of the newspaper problem he urged federal action in order that there might not only be a return on the $555,000,000 invested in the industry, but that the government might obtain its share of revenue in the form of taxation rather than that we should continue to exhaust our forest resources so that newspapers might continue to buy their material at less than cost.

Concluding, Sir Charles emphasized that one of the major planks in the platform of the party which has succeeded to power was the definite and emphatic promise to balance the budget. He referred to Great Britain's example and said that we are entitled to look for a similar fulfilment of a similar objective by the new government at Ottawa, "and I have no hesitation whatever in saying that with an early achievement of that object, Canada, assuming that no exterior problems arise to complicate her outlook, need be second to no other country in progress and material well-being."

Jackson Dodds, in the address of the joint general managers, referred particularly to changes in the bank's balance sheet following the inauguration of the bank of Canada. Gold and coin which stood at $15,100,000 at year end, now amount to $17,000,000 a reduction of $13,400,000.

Referring to the decline in current loans, Mr. Dodds said that the demand for such loans continued to lag behind the improvement in business which was usual after a prolonged depression, as customers naturally employ their own accumulated funds before borrowing. In this connection he said that some Canadian borrowers through exchange operations or otherwise were using foreign funds obtainable temporarily at very low rates, and continued:—"It is to be hoped that this practice may end, less disastrously than it did for many on a former occasion, when the lower rates elsewhere blinded them to the risk involved in borrowing outside the country. There is good and bad money, just as there are good and bad loans; the cheapest money often costs the borrower dearly in the end, just as loans bearing the highest rates frequently result in loss to the lender. The interest on money used for productive purposes is comparatively the smallest item represented in the cost of production. If other items of cost received as much consideration, and if borrowers generally, particularly public bodies, gave anything like as close attention to the use to which borrowed money is put as we do to the question of a small saving in interest, the financial problems of this country would be simplified."

In connection with the heavy appropriation for taxes out of the bank's earnings, Mr. Dodds said that we had drifted a long way from the original intention of taxation to cover state and municipal essential expenditures, adding:—"The burden of taxation imposed by our numerous governing bodies has grown to the point where it consumes capital resources, saps energy and enterprise, discourages industry, production and construction, and thereby increases unemployment. Direct and indirect taxpayers are beginning to take a livelier interest in what is being done with their hard-earned money, and taxing bodies are beginning to realize that, unless taxes are reduced by effecting economies in public expenditures, the source of taxation will ultimately be dried up."

Dealing with trade conditions, Mr. Dodds referred to Canada's example in entering into the Empire Trade agreements and the new trade treaty with the United States. Declaring that gradual recovery in world commerce will continue as men of good will with courage, ability, initiative, enterprise and ingenuity devise means by which trading may be resumed on more normal lines. He emphasized that we should put our international affairs in order to insure Canada being properly equipped to take a prominent part in world trade on whatever basis and scale it may be resumed in future.

CORRESPONDENCE

Summarizes Creamery Situation

Editor, The Vernon News, Sir:—

A recent editorial in The Vernon News has stressed the value of the dairy industry to the North Okanagan and also sounded a warning regarding the proposed reorganization. Realizing the general interest in the matter and appreciating the loyal support of both consumers and retailers as well as the majority of the producers there may, perhaps, be many who will be interested in the following summary.

There can be no denying the fact that our co-operative association has enjoyed a degree of success in recent years. We have paid our shippers equal or as much as 3c per pound higher prices for butterfat during no less than 28 out of 46 months in the past four years. Altogether we have paid our shippers approximately $16,000 more than we would have paid if we had followed the lower returns made by other creameries. This is a matter of first consideration to cream shippers who have suffered low prices during the past years of depression.

In addition to making better monthly payments to the men who milk the cows, who are always our first consideration, we have established cash reserves. This money has been deposited, a little each year, in the savings department of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in Vernon. We expect to add a modest sum to our reserves again at the end of 1935.

It has long been an object with us to secure some financial interest in the creameries at Vernon and Enderby. We believe it is to the interests of each of the shippers that we should have such an interest. Our intention is to take $10,000 of shares in a $30,000 company to be incorporated to take over the creameries at Vernon and Enderby. We have an agreement that will permit us to take over the entire capitalization at a future time if we so desire.

The land, buildings, creamery machinery, cold storage and truck are valued at almost $40,000 after depreciation of the past years has been written off. It would cost this or more to replace two such plants which are admitted by people qualified to say so to be the most modern and economical to operate in the interior of the province. There is cold storage capacity for 150,000 pounds of butter. Is there another creamery equipped to turn out butter of the quality of ours which has held the highest aggregate score of British Columbia every year since 1932 without a break, and has also won first prize at Toronto, Ottawa and other places?

It is not our intention to dispense with the valuable features of the agreement between ourselves and Burns Co. Limited in Calgary. It is generally admitted that this firm are experienced and well connected salesmen. They are a strictly Canadian company whose main interests lie in Western Canada. We enjoy many advantages over our competitors through our connections which permit us to store our summer surplus butter, sell through many retail branches, buy cream cans and supplies cheaper and have the benefits of experienced supervision. We intend to renew our five year contract which has been redrawn and is now more favorable than ever to the cream shippers.

In the future, if shareholders see fit to approve of the plan, we will have the benefit of lower overhead through owning a major portion of the creamery plants. Our new five years' agreement will secure for us financing, selling and supervision for 5c per pound. Some creameries now pay 5c per cent. for selling alone and have no control over the disposal of their product. At present wholesale butter prices of 30c, they pay 1 1/2c per pound or exactly twice as much as we do, while we enjoy far more benefits.

The point of the employment of valuable key men has also been raised by the Editor of The Vernon News. This is certainly admitted to be a matter of vital importance. We have but-tomakers who are familiar with the peculiar characteristics of Okanagan cream and are able to turn these to the great advantage of cream shippers and the buying public. Perhaps it is not generally realized that Okanagan cream, in fact all cream in the interior of B.C., has a peculiar flavor which until our employees learned the secret of mastery over it, did give interior butter a bad name. It can well be remembered how the Dairy Commission, or of B.C., commented adversely upon the butter of the interior 10 years ago.

The Board of Directors fully realize the great value to the cream shippers of this secret now held by our key men. It would be suicidal for any business not to consider the value and importance of key men. We have paid wages in keeping with the value to the producers. We do not anticipate that the methods our buttermakers use in treating our local product would necessarily apply in other areas. Consequently their value as craftsmen, and not here where they have attained a specialized knowledge of the peculiar local conditions of their trade.

With these few remarks, Mr. Editor, I will bring my letter to a close, ex-

OLIVER SENIOR BASKET SQUAD WINS FAST GAME

Penticton Intermediate "A" Team Is Downed—Juniors Also Win Tilt

OLIVER, B.C., Dec. 7.—The basketball season for Oliver's Senior C team opened auspiciously last Wednesday night with a 31-24 win over Penticton's Intermediate A team. The game was played in the Oliver Athletic Hall before a large crowd. The home team turned in a good performance in out-scoring the visitors.

It was a double victory for Oliver when the juniors defeated Penticton juniors by the close score of 19-17.

TURKEY SHOOT IS PLANNED AT EWINGS' LANDING FOR SUNDAY

EWING'S LANDING, B.C., Dec. 7.—A turkey shoot is planned for Sunday next, open to ladies and gentlemen. Shots will be at one hundred yards, less for the ladies. The proceeds at 25c each entry will be used to purchase the turkeys, the number of which will depend on the entries.

Claims Report Was Inaccurate

Editor The Vernon News, Sir:—

On behalf of the British Israel World Federation, Vernon branch, I have been asked to correct some statements made by your reporter on Mr. Graham's lecture on "Heraldry," on Nov. 28 last, which were reported in The Vernon News on Dec. 4 under the heading of "British Israel speaker flays democratic plan." Unfortunately in summarizing a lecture of 1 1/2 hours into some 50 lines of print, a totally wrong idea of the speaker's remarks is often given, as these remarks are separated from their context.

Instead of democracy, the speaker was looking forward to theocratic government, which our ancestors lived under. He also showed by "Heraldry" that the present British Royal family descended from King David, is the one appointed by God, not to rule the world as your reporter says, but to rule the wide-flung British Empire.

Again, British Israel does not advocate war, which it abhors, but as Ezekiel and other prophets state that the Anglo-Saxon people will be involved in war, possibly in the near future, Mr. Graham drew the attention of his audience to that fact.

Yours truly,
W. R. C. Morris,
Secretary, Vernon Branch of the British Israel World Federation

WEDDING BELLS

Pow-Edmunds

WINFIELD, B.C., Dec. 4.—The Winfield United Church was the scene of a pretty wedding when, on Tuesday, November 28, at 3:30 o'clock, the Rev. E. Fleming, of Salmon Arm, uncle of the groom, united in marriage Vera, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Edmunds, and Ernest Pow, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Pow, of this district.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a gown of white satin cut on long lines, with a net veil belonging to the groom's mother. It was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of carnations and fern.

The bride's sister, Miss Daisy Edmunds, attended her and the groom was supported by his brother, Francis, who had arrived from the prairies for the wedding.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents where about 20 friends and relatives gathered.

The bride and groom will take up residence in the Cherry Creek district.

Blagborne-Bleasdale

SUMMERLAND, B.C., Dec. 9.—The marriage of Miss Ethel Irene Bleasdale and Walter Thornthwaite Bleasdale, was solemnized on Monday evening, Dec. 2, in St. Andrew's Church, West Summerland, by the Rev. W. R. Ashford.

Given in marriage by her brother, Charles, the bride wore a pale blue taffeta gown, with veil and the traditional orange blossoms. Her only bridesmaid was Miss Dorothy Marshall, whose frock was rose mottle, with which a small white turban was worn.

Charles Bleasdale was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Fred Bleasdale, brother of the groom, and Leslie Smith, a cousin.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother, who received with the young couple, and who was wearing a frock of blue georgette. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bleasdale will make their home at Summerland on their return from their honeymoon.

OCEAN SEPARATES VALLEY COUPLE AS TANGLE DEVELOPS

Mr. and Mrs. J. Dahlgren, of Peachland, Prevented From Sailing To Honolulu

PEACHLAND, B.C., Dec. 10.—An interesting situation in an international tangle separated Mr. and Mrs. J. Dahlgren, who left here planning to sail for Honolulu together on the Empress of Japan. They were separated by the Pacific Ocean when Mr. Dahlgren was refused passage and his wife, who is an American citizen, sailed without him. Mr. Dahlgren has not returned to Peachland but hopes to follow to Hawaii as soon as possible, if he can arrange his passage.

Miss Sophia Posemko left on Friday for Lacombe, Alberta, to visit at her home there.

Mrs. Harvey Barge and children arrived in town Wednesday to join Mr. Barge, who has made his home here for some months.

Mr. Leonard Trautman, of Camrose, Alberta, is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Posemko.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE HAS HER HAPPIEST ROLE IN LATEST PICTURE

The happiest picture of Shirley Temple's career, "Curly Top" comes on Friday and Saturday, December 13 and 14 to the Empress Theatre.

In "Curly Top," a charming story of a little girl who captures the heart of a lonely bachelor and makes both their dreams come true, Shirley has two new songs to sing and several new and intricate dance routines.

In this comedy-drama, John Boles is cast as a bachelor who adopts Shirley and her big sister, Rochelle Hudson. His generosity takes them from the drab and dreary atmosphere of an orphanage to the sunny summer surroundings of a palatial home in Southampton. There the romance of Boles and Rochelle Hudson flourishes under the childish guidance of little Shirley who sings, dances and laughs her way into their hearts.

HAVE you ever stopped to compare the volume of light you get indoors with that of the average home? Outdoors the light is measured in thousands of candlepower—indoors in units of candlepower. You then realize you never can have too much light if it is properly covered and directed. Good lighting is not expensive—the cost of the light used in an evening is generally less than the cost of a package of gum.
